COLLEGE

MEDFORD, MASSACHUSETTS

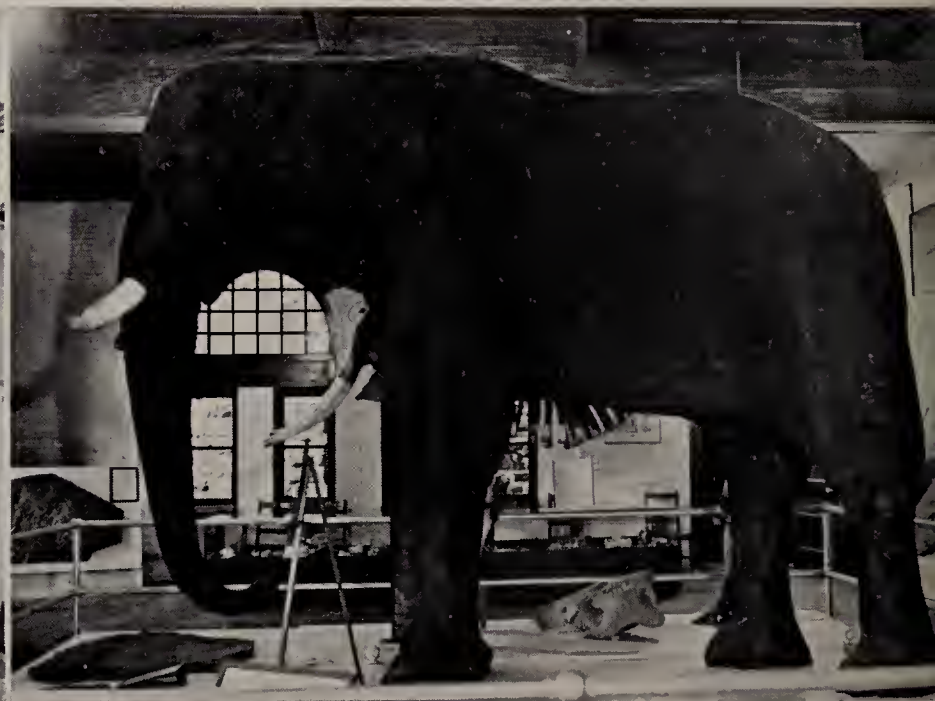

IN 1852 when Charles Tufts gave twenty acres of land to the College which was accordingly given his name, little did he realize to what extent this infant institution would develop. Opening its classrooms to females in 1892, Tufts remained co-educational technically until 1910 when the Women's department, Jackson College, was established. Its growth to a student population of 2100 with a faculty of 750 is remarkable. But more impressive to the student than its rapid growth, in this brief period, is the unique set of traditions that have arisen around the Hill. Within this limited space does Tufts set up invisible walls in whose enclosures personalities and characters are so modified and effected that upon the individual's bearing is stamped the mark of Tufts.

Informality and friendliness of students and faculty impresses the green freshman who traditionally says "Hi", doffs cap to fellow-students.

Hungry Tuftsmen are fed in fraternity houses, local restaurants or at the college "Caf" where frosh must eat if not fraternity men.

Junbo, largest college mascot in United States, is on view to all in Museum, donated in 1883 by Phineas T. Barnum, famous showman.

at Tufts

Though only frosh are assigned counselor's with whom they discuss their problems, upperclassmen too visit "profs" to chat or be advised.

Taboo to frosh, however, is walking on the Rez, campus spooning spot. Most Rez tales though later found to be exaggerations.

To keep in condition upperclassmen exercise at own discretion, frosh and sophs attend compulsory gym. Learn tap dancing, wrestling, boxing, and other useful conditioners.

Social as well as cultural center is Eaton Library. Here students gossip in basement bookstore or grind in special rooms upstairs.

FOREWORD

To present and describe the administration, the activities, the system of athletics, the Greek letter societies and the other classes at Tufts---to correlate all these to the LIFE of the class of nineteen hundred and thirty-nine at Tufts---this is the aim and theme of the Jumbo Book.

The Administrators of Tufts

A PRESIDENT'S INAUGURAL

SIGNIFICANT event in the scholastic as well as administrative policy of Tufts College occurred on November 4 when Dr. Leonard Carmichael, Class of '21, was inaugurated as the eighth president of the College, succeeding Acting President George S. Miller, who for one year capably filled the presidential vacancy caused by the sudden demise of the greatly respected John Albert Cousens, when he died in August, 1937. Occasion of the inaugural ceremony marked the greatest assemblage ever seen on Hill of the leading scholars and presidents of almost every college and learned society in the nation who lent their erudite presence to welcome the advent of a president who seems determined to alter the scholastic policy of Tufts to more adequately fit modern trends in education. Exercises to inaugurate this noted scholar were impressively executed from start to finish.

Led by Professor Miller, followed by Dr. Balch, bearing mace, Dr. Carmichael and President of Trustees Sweet, lead dignitaries to chapel exercises.

Following the chapel exercises the main floor of the Cousens Gymnasium served as scene of luncheon-banquet.

School orchestra and mixed choir sang songs as hungry guests listened and ate in silent appreciation.

BOOK I

Causing great excitement among spectators was sight of president of Harvard, Dr. James B. Conant, and president emeritus, A. Lawrence Lowell, marching side by side.

Though floor was open to scholars and other guests, gallery space was unrestricted and consequently jammed.

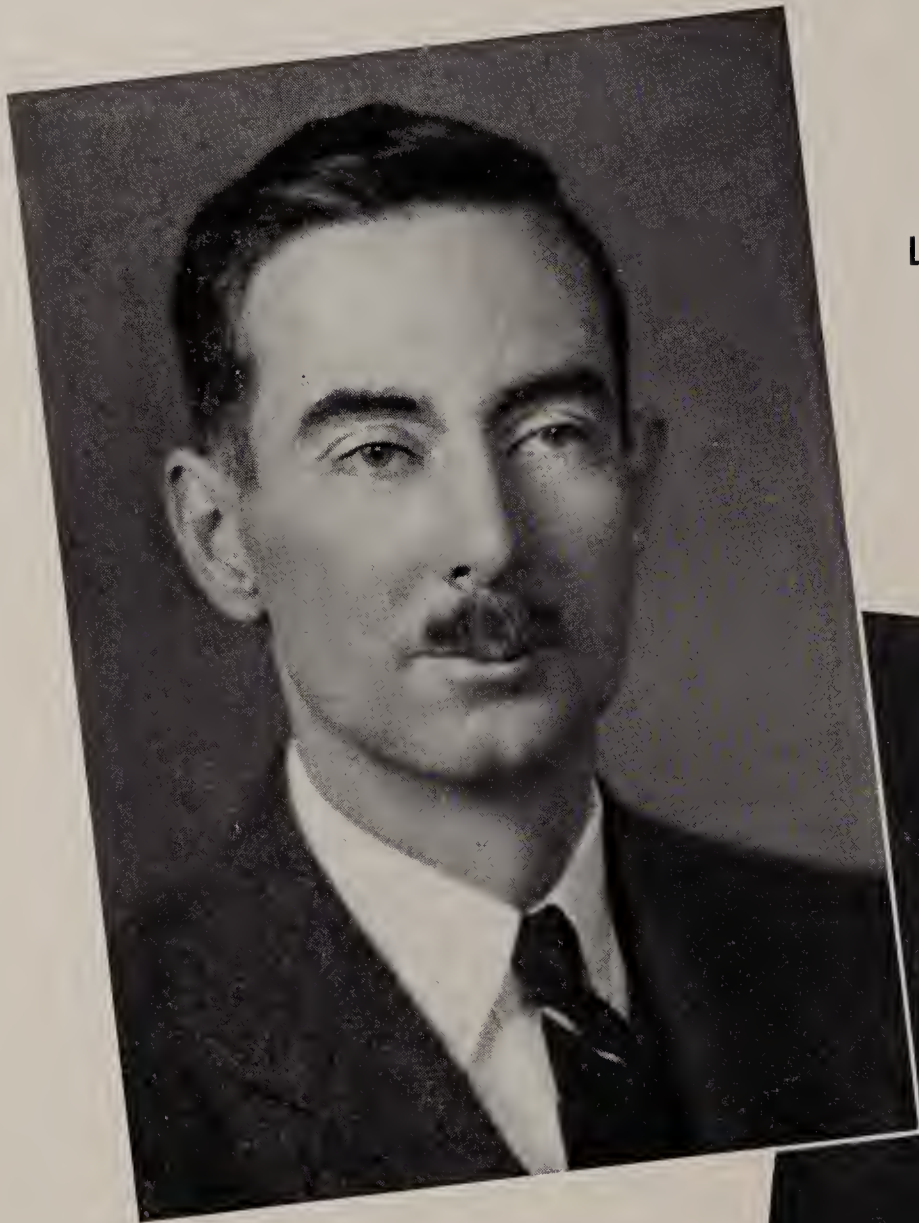

Customary speeches by President Carmichael and noted guests followed meal and brought an end to the program.

Best candid shots of Inaugural figures show (a) Dr. Balch bearing the mace, (b) Dr. Carmichael leading Dr. Capen, Chancellor of Buffalo, into Cousens Gymnasium.

Faculty of Arts and Science

Impressed with MATTHEW LAMBERT'S faculties in the art and science of directing million dollar enterprises on collar-buttons, tooth-picks, and pea-beans, the administration asked him to give the 66-91 course in Shoe-string Finance. Lambert, who was even too busy to take his picture for the Senior Section, declined. "Not interested," he said.

The Class of 1939

A SENIOR AT TUFTS

TO UNDERCLASSMEN, the life of the senior is synonymous with Utopia. He is an acknowledged leader in the field of sport and activity, an erudite Casanova among the women, as well as a font of knowledge to freshman. Before achieving this supposed glamorous state at Tufts, however, the senior must pass requirements as rigid as any New England college. At Tufts, every student must pass an average of five courses every year, whereas most schools require only four. In the school of Liberal Arts, one hundred and twenty-three hours of which seventy-two of C or better, are required. In the school of Engineering, one hundred forty hours are required of which eighty-two must be C or better. Though earnest students find no difficulty in passing the requirements, nevertheless, it is estimated that about thirty per cent of every entering class fails to achieve the status of senior.

Leadership in fraternities, in societies as presidents encourages feeling of confidence to carry out responsibilities existing in student life.

Experienced in properly allotting time for study and leisure, seniors excel in promoting bull sessions. Topics invariably concern sex, sports, studies, selves.

In informal meetings held from October to May senior honorary society of ten, Tower Cross, plans for four thousand five hundred dollar Commencement Week End in June.

BOOK III

Remembering how they once admired the "mighty senior," some men assume superior mannerisms to draw respect from underclassmen.

Being "old residents" on campus, seniors find it less difficult to stop faculty members to talk over studies or other matters.

Graduation exercises officially end student's life on Hill as Tufts College issues approximately five hundred sheepskins annually to grads of six schools.

But even after diplomas are awarded student still carries memories of the nights he burned the midnight oil.

The Old Drinking Cup

When there was no such thing as having a coke in the bookstore, Tufts men used to go to the old drinking fountain to quench their thirst.

The Activities at Tufts

EXTRA CURRICULAR WORK

DISTINCTIVELY characteristic of Tufts is the opportunity afforded all students to participate in a wide range of activities covering practically every field of student interest. Expense to students is nothing except time and effort with the exception of departmental or independent groups where dues average fifty cents per semester. Otherwise, as in dramatics or journalism the school provides facilities and expenses from student activities fee collected on the term bill. Feature of all these organizations is their relative freedom from administration's domination. Leaders are left to own resources to effect policies, though Committee on Student Activities is ever-watchful and Student Council regulates and administers when necessary. Genuine interest and co-operative effort has proven formula for getting ahead in this field of college life.

Student Council, advised by Professor Miller, supervises students' interests. Meets twice a month on Wednesday in Ballou Hall.

Greatest quantity of student energy is expended in publishing the Tufts Weekly, student news organ. Other publications are Tuftonian, Ivy Book, Jumbo Book.

Greatly respected by students is Pen, Paint, and Pretz honorary dramatic society. Builds sets in Music Ho

BOOK III

Special class activities are carried on by class honorary societies at informal meetings held in fraternity houses of various members.

Unofficial clearing house of all school activities is the Bookstore. Here "experts" smoke, drink "cokes," nibble and quibble.

Professor Leo Lewis, composer of majority of Tufts songs, leads college glee club, and choir. Guest conductor at Tufts Night in Symphony Hall.

Student clubs are many, hold monthly meetings in college buildings, sponsor noted speakers. Small assessments make possible refreshments after meetings.

THE school year of 1938-39 has seen the fifteenth birthday of the Tufts' Student Council, for in the year 1924 this student body was first organized, and its work dates from this time. As stated in its Constitution, the plan of the Council is to place some authority over student policy and conduct in the form of a student governing board. In the broad sense the Council forms the uniting link between Faculty and Student, leaving in the Faculty's hands the final right to act for the best interests of the College, while the Council is assured the opportunity to state its case in behalf of the students.

Twice each month, throughout the school year, the members of this group gather in meeting. They are sent as representatives from various campus organizations to reflect the views of a wide section of our campus citizenry. For the school year of 1938-39 the following men were members of the Council as representatives of the groups named: Tower Cross, G. A. Edwards, G. C. Edwards and E. Fiorini; Ivy, A.

Hatch, G. Chiros; Sword and Shield, T Haselton; Weekly, D. A. Cowdery; Jumbo Book, J. E. Atlas; Tuftonian, R. Stephenson; 3 P's, P. Peterson; Musical Clubs, T. Hahn; A. A., A. M. Pearson, President, and E. J. Sheehan, Jr. member; Commuter's Club, J. Hughes; Class of '39, J. G. Weldon; '40, E. J. Sheehan; '41, L. Gessay; '42, G. Curtis; and as Faculty Advisor, Professor G. S. Miller.

Under the capable guidance of President James Weldon, Vice-President Jacob Atlas and Secretary Donald Cowdery the Council undertook its tasks of the year.

The outstanding achievement of the Council was its recognition of the youthful Commuter's organization. Realizing the growing size and importance of this club the Council agreed to listen to the Commuter's case in order to determine whether to allow them a representative. After hearing the facts in the case it was decided to give the Club a seat in the Council for a probationary period of one year.

Jackson Student Council

JACKSON Student Council is the governing body of the Student Government Association of Jackson College. The object of this organization is to encourage responsibility and loyalty in the student body, and to help in the solving of problems affecting the students and the college. It is the tie between the College administrators and the students.

The members of the Council are a President, Vice-President, and Secretary-Treasurer elected by the entire student body, the Presidents of each class, house presidents from the dormitories, and Off-Hill representative chosen by the Off-Hill students, the President of A. A. and President of All-Around Club. This year it was also decided to have the Jackson Editor of the Weekly be a member of the Council.

The specific duties of the Council are the enforcement of dormitory rules, supervision of Jackson elections, entertainment of sub-freshmen, sponsoring of formal dinners once a month in the dining rooms, and assisting in freshman pre-registration orientation week.

This year, the Council was divided into two bodies; one, a committee composed of the officers and house presidents, to take care of disciplinary cases; two the larger body, which took up various matters for discussion and established changes in rules. A change was made in the voting system so that the great majority of students would take part in every election. The Council held a joint meeting with Tufts Student Council, at which there was discussion on the idea of having a student-faculty advisory committee for curriculum problems and suggestions about changing and reorganizing courses, the new Student Loan Organization, and an honor system for the college. A committee from Jackson Student Council met with the Dean at intervals throughout the year to investigate the possibility of having radios allowed in the girls' rooms in the dormitories.

The officers for this year were: President, Eileen Foster; Vice-President, Theiss English; Secretary-Treasurer, Caroline Barker. Members are Helen Horley, Persis Proctor, Helen Maulsby, Carol Phillips, Rachel Cole, Rachel Pierce, Phyllis Lybeck, Blanche Downing, Eleanor Macomber, Jean MacInnes, Bertha Platts, Barbara Glasier, Virginia Milnes, Phyllis Hayward, Virginia Vibert, Olivia Story, Janet Mac-lachlan.

Tower Cross Society

*Second Row: G. A. Edwards, Fiorini, G. C. Edwards, Pearson, Weldon
First Row: Cowdery, Hughes, Sweeney, Weeks*

THE Senior Class Honorary Society, Tower Cross, represents the acme of extra curricular achievement, and the members of this society hold an honor that is bestowed upon but ten Seniors each year. With the Sword and Shield standing guard at the foot of our Chapel Tower to guard our traditions, and the Ivy struggling to keep these traditions alive and ever vigorous, the Cross crowning the Tower of our Chapel overlooks the entire campus. From this is derived the duty of the Tower Cross Society; to watch over the welfare of the campus and see that student activities under its control are carried out with dignity and efficiency.

With Joseph Sweeney as President, John Hughes as Vice President, Donald Cowdery as Secretary-Treasurer, Joseph Weeks as Marshall, George Edwards, Elmer Fiorini and Giraud Edwards as Student Council Representatives the Tower Cross carried out its duties well and faithfully. Behind these officers were men who had the necessary vigor to carry out plans. James Weldon, Albert Pearson and John Adams aided every enterprise undertaken by Tower Cross, and enabled Sweeney to successfully complete his plans.

Meetings were held throughout the year and early in the year plans were formulated for Commencement activities. This series of events was the biggest problem that the Tower Cross had to consider,—as is every year. Since most of the men of Tower Cross were experienced in such matters the planning for the last of our college events was made easier. By the fine cooperation of all concerned, both members and the members of their Class, the Tower Cross was able to close the college career of its Class with a finely executed series of social and scholastic events.

After a year of work in Tower Cross the members have reached a full and lasting appreciation of their position. To the men who will take over their duties next year, 1939-'40, the members of the present Tower Cross wish every degree of success in all their endeavors.

Ivy Society

FOUNDED in 1901, Ivy Society is a representative group of third year men elected in May of the Sophomore year by the members of the Sophomore class with membership becoming effective during the Junior year. From sixteen to twenty nominations are made by the retiring society from the outstanding men in the Sophomore class, and the membership of ten is chosen by vote of the entire class. Men who are included on the ballot must be in good scholastic standing as of the preceding February and April marks and have an average of 1.66. The requisite number of members are those having the highest number of votes.

Ivy Society is an important organization, not only for the extreme honor that membership gives, but also for the many services which are rendered to the class and the whole school by the organization. Ivy in its own way plans and executes the popular Junior Week-End. This includes the selection of Ivy Orator to give the Oration, the planting of the ivy by the President of the Society, supervision of the Junior Promenade and the Junior Day Darce. In addition to this, Ivy takes charge of the selection and ordering of the class blazers which are worn for the first time on Junior Week-End in the latter part of April.

Throughout the school year, Ivy is active in sponsoring and conducting dances after basketball games and other athletic functions, in conducting elections for the Senior and Freshman classes, and in ushering at official functions of the college. Of the greatest service and value to the college community is the editing and publishing of the Ivy Book, the college handbook of general information, which is distributed to every student and faculty member at the beginning of the academic year.

The officers and members of the Society were: Philip Varney, President; Alfred Symonds, Jr., Vice President-Secretary; Arthur Bonney, Treasurer; Allen Hatch, George Chiros, Student Council Representatives; Arthur Griffin, Frederick Jenkins, Gordon Willey, David Pollard, Charles Tibbs.

Sword and Shield Society

Top: Loret, Sketchley, Dugger, Hazelton, Gomez, Lynch Bottom: Bennett, Hannabury, McMahon, Breen, Gessay

SWORD AND SHIELD is the Sophomore Honorary Society and was founded in 1902. Its main purposes are the promotion of good fellowship throughout the college and the guiding and protecting of the interests of the Sophomore class.

Members of Sword and Shield are elected by their own class from a group of twenty to twenty-four candidates nominated by the preceding Sword and Shield from the Freshman class for their excellence in campus activities. A necessary qualification for a nominee is that he be in good scholastic standing. Twelve highest men in the balloting conducted by the Ivy Society in the spring become members.

Besides ushering at athletic and dramatic functions the Society acts as a vigilance committee for the college, including the policing of any outdoor sings. However, the most widely known duty of the Sword and Shield Society is the maintenance and enforcement of Freshman traditions. This includes enforcing the rules which all incoming Freshmen must abide by according to tradition and the policing of the campus and chapel for infractions of these traditions.

The Society also acts as a welcoming committee to all visitors to the school and has the privilege of conducting not more than informal dances during the school year. Of very special social import is the Annual Sword and Shield Dance which is one of the terpsichorean highlights of the school year.

Especially successful were the informal dances held in the Jackson Gymnasium by Sword and Shield in the fall after several of the football games, and those held immediately preceeding the basketball games during the winter season in the Cousens Gymnasium.

The officers and members of the Society were: William A. McMahon, President; Mark Hannabury, Vice President; Frank Bennett, Secretary; James J. Breen, Treasurer; Everett Bachman, Corresponding Secretary; Theodore Hazelton, Student Council Representative; Edward Dugger, Louis Gessay, Philip Gomez, Burch Loret, William Lynch, John Sketchley.

Evening Party Association

THE Evening Party Association, one of the oldest organizations on the Hill, is composed of students whose purpose it is to promote the social life of the college by holding a series of formal dances. One delegate from each of the nine fraternities is elected as a member. The Association for the 1938-39 season consisted of the following men chosen to represent their respective fraternities:

Because of the new Inter-Fraternity Ball, the Evening Party Association relinquished its first party date in order to insure the success of such an innovation to the Tufts social calendar. In this manner, Evening Party continued its long-standing policy of promoting the social functions of the campus. However, for the evening of March 3, a superb time was planned by the organization. In fact, all expectations were surpassed when the affair finally took place. The music was furnished by Bob Adams and his Orchestra, a band that had all present spellbound and thrilled with its Artie Shaw and Tommy Dorsey dance arrangements. Other features of the only Evening Party of the '39 season were the awarding of a Junior Prom. ticket and two of the great 1939 Jumbo Books to lucky patrons. Along with such fine music and feature awards, gala decorations made the eve of March the third one to be remembered by all the socialites of Tufts College. About 200 couples claimed the formal as one of the better dances of the Spring season.

Since Inter-Fraternity Council is planning to sponsor another week-end similar to the one of this year, it seems as though the Evening Party Association will have to be content to run but one affair in the years to come. Back in the 1900's when the organization was the only such group "on the Hill," it has been known to sponsor five or six formals in a college year but with the advent of honor societies, clubs, and councils, the necessity of Evening Parties has dwindled. However, the one function of the Association proved so successful that it is very possible that in the future the society can plan to run parties whenever there are gaps in Tufts' "social life."

Tuftonian

Second Row: Stephenson, Parker
First Row: Hall

THE Tuftonian, a literary magazine at Tufts College, appears three times a year. This publication is the students' means of expression of creative literary ability. It is the purpose of the editorial board to foster original writing by constructive criticism of manuscripts submitted, and as a further stimulus several members of the English Department have offered prizes this year for the best published material in the fields of the essay, the short story, and poetry.

The Tuftonian has always had to contend with apathy on the part of a majority of the student body toward the creation of literature; at the same time it has had to endure much non-constructive criticism from those who are unable or unwilling to provide either constructive ideas or usable material. With such an attitude prevailing in the college, it is difficult for the editors to assemble a magazine which is truly representative and which will appeal equally to the Liberal Arts students and to the Engineers. The commendation which its issues have received this year is a reflection of the capable work of the editorial board in selecting and assembling material to make up a magazine of high literary merit.

Although few students today realize this fact, the Tuftonian is the oldest student-run publication at Tufts College. It first appeared in 1864 as an annual of four pages, and it was published jointly by the Zeta Psi and Theta Delta Chi fraternities. The earliest cover was adorned with a tinted cut of Ballou Hall. The annual was continued until 1877, but in 1874 a monthly magazine, the Collegian, was founded; when the annual ceased, the magazine was re-christened in 1878 with the name of the older publication. Since that date the magazine has led a somewhat precarious existence; it died out entirely in the early twenties but was firmly re-established in 1926, and it has maintained a high standard of literary merit since then.

Ivy Book

*Second Row: Sweeney, Atlas
First Row: Baker, Weldon, Murphy*

IVY, the Junior Honorary Society, elects at mid-years the Ivy Book Staff members, who spend the rest of the year and most of the summer collecting and compiling data for their volume. This staff has complete charge of editing the book and they treat it as any professional editor would treat a best seller.

The entire expense is covered by the Bookstore Fund which is made up from the surplus acquired by this famous institution.

The Ivy Book is the most widely read and most useful of all undergraduate publications. It serves as a general source book for all students of the "Hill," containing information of an extremely diversified nature. The fields of fact range from the time schedule of trolley cars serving between Tufts College and Sullivan Square to a list of men whom have served Tufts College in the capacity of President.

The first contact a new student has with the many interesting facts connected with Tufts is the Ivy Book. The frosh are required by Sword and Shield to carry their Ivy books at all times. This is a most beneficial ruling, for the little blue bound books serve as a veritable "Bible" for the freshmen. In it they find the traditions, customs, and official regulations governing undergraduate life. It contains information on all college activities, societies, clubs, sports, competitions, awards, events, facts, statistics, and song texts.

Jackson College has a complete section devoted to information concerning its activities.

The last sixty pages of the book are given over to the calendar which notes all the important activities on Hill day by day. In addition to the calendar these pages are also used as a date book and in many cases as a diary.

Tufts Weekly

THE Tufts Weekly is primarily a student news organ of the college community. It is written, supervised, and distributed by the students to the students and is about the students. The paper aims to express through its columns what the student body is doing, thinking, and proposing. There is the very popular "To the Editor:" column where anyone interested in Tufts and Tufts students may write to the Editor giving opinions on subjects of vital interest to the college.

Other columns written by students give free range for the student to express his ideas and suggestions. "Around the Hill" written by a Tufts student and "Coed Campus Chats" written by a Jackson student give sidelights on campus social life. "Jumbo Jottings" written by the Sports Editor deals with all phases of Tufts sports. "Engine-airs" gives items of interest to those in the Engineering School. A new feature inaugurated this year is the column "Ten Minutes With Prexy" in which President Carmichael discusses various pertinent topics in an intimate manner with a "Weekly" interviewer.

The Weekly depicts student life by means of pictures, cartoons, news stories, and features. Each issue has some special feature on a new and interesting phase of student life. The various feature columns give personal sidelights on student activities. The paper attempts to cover all news events around the campus in the various departments and in the numerous clubs.

The paper is sent to over fifteen hundred alumni and contains many items concerning the activities of the college graduates. The alumni may keep up with activities on the Hill by reading each copy. Many of the letters received by the paper are from alumni interested in some phase of Tufts life.

Every issue is put out as nearly as possible by student work alone. All the copy is written by the members of the editorial staff and turned into the Editors by the first of the week. The Editors correct the copy and turn it over to the linotype man at the Tufts College Press. After the story is set up the proof is corrected by the News Editors. The Managing Editors make up the paper Tuesday afternoon putting the heads written by the News Editors and the stories in their proper place in the chase. The advertising is solicited by the Business Manager and his assistants. Final proofs are corrected by the Editors before the paper goes to press

Wednesday noon. Folding, distributing, and mailing the papers are taken care of by the Circulation Manager and his staff. Thursday morning the paper is distributed to the students and mailed to the alumni.

Thus the Weekly offers valuable training in journalism, printing, and business for all interested. Valuable connections may be made through work in its various departments.

The Weekly has advanced through its years of existence keeping up with journalistic changes and popular trends. The style now used is a clear, well balanced paper with modern type and cuts enlivening each page.

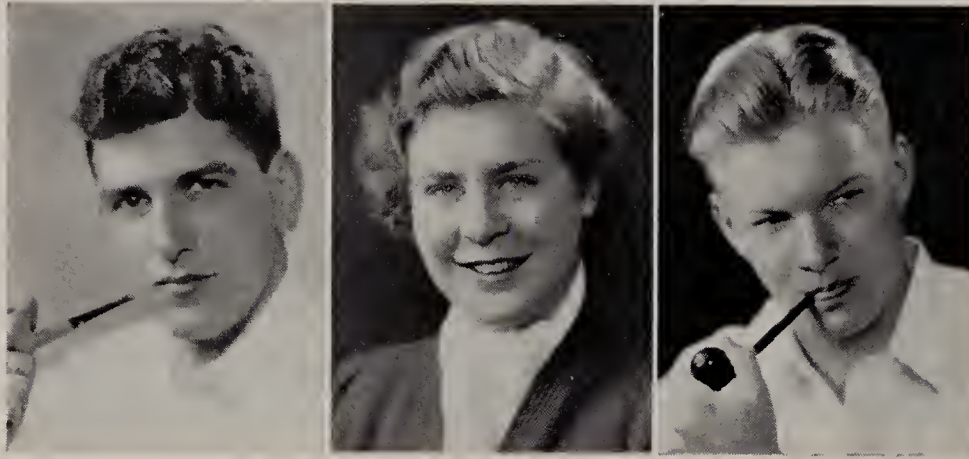

There are thirty-two issues during the year varying in size from four to eight pages. Special editions are put out for various occasions. The Football Edition contains pictures of all the Seniors on the squad with a review of the season. The special Engineering School number is issued in conjunction with Engineering Night in April. It contains a special four page supplement with pictures of the school. At the end of the year, the Editors put out a special Junior Week-end Edition as their final issue before the new Editors assume control. During the year, the Weekly conducts various polls of student opinions on elections and contemporary questions. The students take a marked interest in these polls and the results are indicative of the majority of the student body.

THIS PAGE of the book is not meant for students who “crab.” It is not meant for professional carpers, beefers, smart-alecks, or other such parties who do not like Tufts and what it stands for. (It isn’t even meant for people who don’t relish the idea of ending a sentence with a preposition.) This page is dedicated to people who like Tufts and what it stands for because they are a part of Tufts. They are a part of Tufts not just because they participate in various activities designed to give the school a good name, but because they realize the debt they owe the college, a debt that cannot be measured in terms of money. All they have to do is realize how four years of life at Tufts has broadened them. Has made them patient, tolerant, even intelligent. Has made them appreciative of effort expended by others, has made them evaluate people and places and events in proportion to their significance. Has made them feel that it is not necessary to find fault or to criticize in order to make a place for oneself.

This page of the book is meant for students who can remember back to the time they were freshmen. How they were awed by the savoir-faire of the seniors. How they were disillusioned at first when they discovered that college was not what the movies portrayed, not what their idea of it had been.—How they grew over this brief period of disillusionment and learned to appreciate the college as it really was—and day by day—not just from books, but by social contacts and experiences. How the college songs passed from mere symbols of routine behavior on special occasions to real symbols of loyalty and affection and college tradition. How they felt themselves change when they refused to cheat in exams, or to play up to the profs, or utilize any other of the thousand and one divers means of fooling the faculty. How they realized that these means were, in the long run, designed to fool only themselves. And if any did do such things and realized this and felt ashamed, they grew. They grew because they felt how small they were, and they began to honor principles and values. When they felt this way, they stopped doing these things, and probably they were less worried, and more satisfied with themselves and their consciences.

EXPLANATION

It is for people like this that we deviated from the style of the last ten Jumbo Books. True, we have practically the same six titles, but anyone can see that there is more material in the book. Instead of one or two short paragraph write-ups of each activity we have devoted at least one double-column page. We have added pictures and write-ups of the various clubs on Hill. We have started a new type of division page, the like of which—to our knowledge—has never before been used by any year-book in any school in any country. We have used LIFE treatment as the theme of our book and each division page describes in some aspect by words and pictures what is to follow it.

THE STAFF

WITHOUT a doubt this year's staff has stamped itself as the most industrious year-book staff ever to serve on a year-book at Tufts. A comparison with the content of any preceding Jumbo Book will serve to prove this. Although, as some of the members of the staff read this and realize they should and could have done more and better work, they deserve to be commended. For they worked for the doubtful honor which befalls a member of a year-book staff, but nevertheless, it can be said, they have established a precedent by providing the school with a book that represents a great deal of effort if not quality. At least they laid the cornerstone of what perhaps will be the construction of better year-books at Tufts—an activity which in the long run is deserving of more cooperation on the part of the student body and faculty. The line-up of the 1939 Jumbo Book team is as follows:

Phi Beta Kappa

*Second Row: Shepard, Bernstein, Fischer

PHI BETA KAPPA, the Honorary Scholastic Fraternity, was organized at the College of William and Mary at Williamsburg, Virginia, in 1776. It was the first "Greek-letter" society, and in its initial period of four years at William and Mary, it formulated the essential characteristics of such societies—secrecy, an emblem, mottos in Greek and Latin, a constitution, a form of initiation, a token of salutation, and a seal. Although chief attention was given to literary exercises, fraternal sentiments were fostered, and meetings were held for social purposes. Anniversaries were celebrated in the old Raleigh Tavern, which with the entire colonial town of Williamsburg, was restored recently, chiefly through the efforts of John D. Rockefeller, Jr. Among the founders of Φ BK were many who soon distinguished themselves in public life, of whom Chief Justice John Marshall of the Supreme Court was the most prominent.

The Medal adopted at the first meeting was a square of silver rather than of gold, but otherwise the Φ BK key of today retains its symbols and form practically unchanged. The key was designed to indicate the ambition of the members, and to symbolize the distinguishing principles of the Society. The Greek letters Φ BK are the initials of a Greek motto which has been well interpreted to mean, "Love of wisdom the helmsman of life," and the index pointing to the three stars represents the aspiration of the members to Friendship, Morality, and Literature.

The members of this Society were: Allan Callow, '38, Robert Folsom, '38, Charles Stearns, '39, Sumner H. Bernstein, '39, Thomas Ceplikas, '39, William C. Shepherd, '39, Mortimer Fischer, '39, Leocade Leighton, '39, Evelyn Hagen, '39, Persis Proctor, '39, Nancy Hall, '39.

Tau Beta Pi

TAU BETA PI was founded at Lehigh University in 1885 by Edward Higginson Williams, Jr. to mark in a fitting manner those who have conferred honor upon their Alma Mater by distinguished scholarship and exemplary character as undergraduates in engineering, or by their attainments in this field as alumni, and to foster a spirit of liberal culture in the engineering colleges of America. The society has grown until there are now sixty nine-active chapters which have lectured more than thirty thousand members. The Tufts chapter, Delta of Massachusetts, was established in 1927.

The elections, which are held twice yearly, are done by the active members. Men in the upper quarter of the senior class and those in the upper eighth of the junior class are eligible. Aside from these scholastic requirements the selection is based on integrity, breadth of interest both inside and outside of engineering, adaptability, and unselfish activity. Graduates who have attained success in their fields and to whom membership was not available during their college careers are also eligible for election into the society. Upon election the under-graduates are required to submit a two thousand word essay on any subject.

Throughout the year several business and social meetings were held. Among the most popular features were the dinners at which some speaker has given a short talk and then conducted an informal discussion of his subject. A number of joint meetings with nearby chapters have been held which always proved very interesting and served to broaden the outlook of the chapters concerned. An inspection trip to several New England industrial plants and engineering structures is conducted each spring.

Pen, Paint and Pretzels

LAST year's Jumbo Book Poll voted Pen, Paint, and Pretzels, honorary dramatic society at Tufts College, the most popular college organization. This is but one of the many indications that drama at the college is growing and expanding to meet the need for it on the campus. Even though an undergraduate body, 3P's draws audiences from the students, from the alumni, from the parents, and faculty; but recently spurred on by the fresh start of the new college administration, by the trained personnel of the group, and the marked increase of undergraduate support, the plays given have attracted the interest of little theatre lovers entirely outside of the college. The club ranks with the most progressive in the tributary theatre group.

This has been accomplished by a well-organized program, including four so-called "major productions," many short "minor productions" designed to stimulate interest in the different phases of production, frequent Tufts Nights at Boston performances of the best plays, a rally early in the season, and open meetings where important theatre personalities are introduced.

The Pursuit of Happiness, first in the "major productions" chosen by the play-reading committee, proved a popular as well as practical success, being faithful in spirit and fact to the early Colonial period. Maxwell Anderson's High Tor, with the cast of fourteen, placed more responsibility upon the actors, but the technical problems of the steam shovel bucket that actually raised and the ghosts that disappeared were met with unusual ingenuity. A play of immediate social significance was Sinclair Lewis' It Can't Happen Here, dealing with the problem of dictatorships arising in the midst of American freedom. On the whole the play-selection was judicious and well-varied; it appealed to all theatre-lovers in the college community. A period play, a comedy, and a play of social significance were included; the Anderson play being the answer to the requests of many enthusiasts after Winterset of the previous season.

The "minor productions" designed this year showed modern trends in the theatre and also drew upon the literature of the past. More or less selected audiences were encouraged so that a discussion group might be developed. At the annual rally, a capacity audience witnessed the Victorian melodrama, Box and Cox, and each person interested filled out a card to show his particular abilities in drama productions. Happy Journey, by Thornton Wilder, a perfect example of his modern technique afterwards used in Our Town, was given as one of these informal productions, directed by the club president. This was followed by a demonstration of pantomime by the Play-Production class, and a most profitable discussion by both the actors and audience. The college chapel formed the ideal setting for a Christmas Festival, also a new undertaking this year, sponsored by 3P'S. A revival of the Second Shepards' Play of the Wakefield Cycle of old English miracles was chosen as the Christmas Play, and appropriate medieval music and carols were sung by the college choir. The audience was limited, about three hundred invitations being issued to guests. Another in this series of productions was the private reading of the modern English play, The Ascent of F6, by W. H. Auden and Christopher Isherwood. Reading the play brought out successfully the great dependence this particular type of symbolic playwriting places upon sound. These workshop productions and those of the original one-act play-writing class, were well worth the time spent in planning them in the society, for they stimulated constructive criticism among the audiences.

These seem like sufficient reasons to continue this experiment in the future.

It may be assumed by now that Tufts Nights at Boston performances of professional plays have become a traditional service rendered the college by its dramatic society. By contacting theatre managers and securing seats at reduced prices, 3P'S is placing a valuable form of education within the financial reach of each and every student. The cast of the George Abbott comedy What A Life visited the society at its first open meeting and entertained the college as a whole in Packard Hall. Tufts Nights this year included such highlights as Shadow and Substance, What A Life, and the Federal Theatre productions of Dr. Faustus and Macbeth. When we consider that about one hundred people attend each Tufts Night, it is evident that 3P's has increased the theatre-goers here at Tufts by a large percentage since the custom was established three years ago.

Permanent improvements have been made in the standing equipment by the society, so that the highest working efficiency has been reached under the present physical limitations of the college stage. During the last twelve months, the new act curtain and track have been purchased, the make-up room has been relighted and reorganized, the teaser has been raised, and the beam lights have been rearranged. The unsightly and troublesome posts backstage were removed for High Tor; costumes and props have new cabinets in the Music House, and scenery has an orderly storeroom in the basement. The society has purchased a public address system, machinery for electrical transcription, and has started a library of sound effect records. Workshop improvements have been numerous, prompt books are now bound for reference, and a history of the society has been started for permanent record. Perhaps these improvements owe their existence to the fact that as many as five of the members received summer training in stock companies and dramatic schools, and returned with fresh enthusiasm and new ideas.

Tufts Musical Organizations

THERE are five musical organizations at Tufts College at the present time. These groups have had varied and interesting histories. Their diversity offers any student interested in music and with any musical ability an opportunity to express his talent.

Whenever one thinks of Tufts' music, one thinks of Leo Rich Lewis. Professor Lewis graduated from Tufts in 1887 and has been a teacher here since 1895. As Fletcher Professor of Music, he has a vital part in all Tufts' musical activities. "Alma Mater" stands as a fitting tribute both to the college and to the man who wrote it. Beside this beloved hymn, Professor Lewis has composed, arranged, and assisted in countless other college, classical, and semi-classical numbers. There are now over three hundred original arrangements in the library of Tufts musical productions.

THE GLEE CLUB

The oldest musical organization in the college is the Glee Club. The first Glee Club was formed in 1863 and was known as the Philharmonic Club. The Silver Bells Quartet grew out of this club but interest lagged until 1866 when the first organization bearing the official title of Tufts Glee Club was formed.

After eight years of inactivity, a quartet of East Hall singers renewed interest and instigated the formation of the second Glee Club. Sporadic attempts were made at maintaining a Glee Club from 1875 until 1886. In this year, the Tufts Glee Club gave its first concert on March 15 at Cambridge, Massachusetts. A Mandolin Club was formed to accompany the singers and was maintained with ups and downs until 1921. Following the first concert, the Glee Club enjoyed good and bad seasons. Wars and faculty suppression hindered its progress until 1890-91 when the club went on its first tour. In 1903-04, the Glee Club gave fifty concerts making several long trips.

A record entitled "Tufts Mosaic" was recorded by the Glee Club at the Columbia Studios in 1914. Before the United States entered the war and the Club was temporarily suspended, the members appeared every day for one week in a special concert in Filene's.

The Glee Club was reorganized in 1921 and a string quartet was added. This quartet still accompanies the Club, and its present members are Sheldon Rotenberg, Michael Denesuk, Edward Hahn, and Warren Brighty. During the spring of 1921, the Club made a trip with thirty-three men and the orchestra. The following year they toured New Hampshire, Maine and Massachusetts with the string quartet and a dance orchestra. The Glee Club toured seven states with thirty-five members in 1923.

Interest ran high in the Club in 1925 when they drew an audience of 2900 people in three concerts. The club slumped again in 1928-29 but was revived in 1930. On March 15, 1936, a huge concert was given in the Cousens Gymnasium. This was to commemorate the Fiftieth Anniversary of the first Glee Club concert. Last year the Glee Club gave fifteen concerts including a trip to Philadelphia to collaborate with the other musical organizations and the dramatic department in presenting Gilbert and Sullivan's "Princess Ida."

A Jackson Glee Club was formed around 1906 and has continued in varying sizes since. The Club has been larger since 1930 and taken a more vital part in musical activities at the college.

BAND

The first band in Tufts College was established in 1884 by Charles Fox Borden who solicited money to purchase the instruments. This first band was abandoned after a few years, and Tufts was without one until the Ivy Society initiated a drive for a new one in 1903. The instruments this time were purchased with money from the Book Store Fund and the organization made its first appearance at the Bates-Tufts football game on November 17, 1903. There were three bands between this year and the war-time when a S. A. T. C. band was formed on the Hill. In 1919, Fletcher gave $3000 to the school to purchase band instruments. Thirty-five players composed this new band which played for the first time at the New Hampshire-Tufts game, November 10, 1920. The eighth band was organized in 1925, and this band has been continuous ever since. New uniforms were purchased in 1925. Lawrence W. Chidester became band leader in 1927. The band received new uniforms in 1932 and began to use marching tactics at the football games during the 1933 season. The following year saw the Tufts band playing concert music for the first time.

A novelty German Band was formed in 1936. This organization attracted considerable favorable comment from the spectators at the football games. On November 15, 1936, Natalie McInness appeared as the first and only girl drum major in the history of the college.

Mr. Chidester has developed many new marching tactics for the group and under the capable direction of Drum Major William McMahon, new interest has been manifested in the Tufts Band.

This year the band made the trip with the football team to Brown and to Bowdoin. It also furnished the processional music at the inauguration of President Carmichael. Michael Denesuk, '38, was the acting director in the absence of Mr. Lawrence Chidester who was on sabbatical leave.

ORCHESTRA

The first orchestra at Tufts College was organized in 1871. For the next twenty years there were several organizations depending on the interest of the students and the amount of talent available. In 1890, the orchestra took on new life under the leadership of Charles Fox Borden who organized the men and led the campaign to purchase new instruments.

The present orchestra was organized in 1928 by Lawrence Chidester. It has given occasional concerts and played at important functions including the inauguration of President Carmichael. There are approximately thirty-five members.

CHOIR

The College Choir was started in 1868 with four members and an organist. The second choir was formed in 1885, and the third and permanent one in 1899. This third choir included female voices for the first time. The choir sings at various services in the Chapel.

President	SUMNER H. BERNSTEIN
Vice-President	RUTH SILVA
Secretary	ELENOR WHEELER
Treasurer	LEOCADÉ LEIGHTON
Advisor	PROFESSOR DALY

THE International Relations Club aimed to stimulate interest in and to clarify opinions of international affairs. To achieve this end, its program was divided into two sections—collegiate activities, and inter-collegiate activities.

Collegiate activities included—(1) forums with men eminent in the field of international politics giving their opinions, and then leading discussion on outstanding world events; (2) papers and debate by members of the organization on controversial political issues; (3) numerous small study groups, consisting of three to seven members in which topics presented at the meetings are discussed more intimately and at greater length.

Canterbury Club

President	WILLIAM C. SHEPARD
Vice-President	RACHEL L. COLE
Secretary	NANCY J. HALL
Steward	HERBERT E. ARMSTRONG

THE newly organized Canterbury Club aimed for the promotion of interest in the study of English and American Literature; the stimulation of the exchange of ideas among the members; the encouragement of a friendly relationship between the faculty and student members; and the creation of an informal group to discuss and evaluate the original offerings of its members.

The Canterbury Club offered as speakers throughout the college year the eminent scholars, writers, and critics in the field of literature. The subjects and speakers were chosen with a plan of varied topics, and the hope that these meetings would correlate with the interests of other departments in the college curriculum.

SINCE its organization in October, 1937, the Off Hill Club progressed rapidly toward its objective—"To better the position of the commuter, and to form a stronger bond between the commuter and the college."

The club was well represented in intramural sports. Its members made important contributions in practically all activities on the Hill, especially in dramatics, debating, and in the management of the Weekly. This year, for the first time, this organization was given representation on the Student Council. Its representative was James Hughes, '41.

Prominent in the formation and direction of the club were Walter Yakeys, this year's president, and Lewis Stillman, first president.

DURING the past fourteen years the Tufts College Historical Society has brought to the college many distinguished speakers, whose subjects have ranged over the fields of history and of contemporary international affairs. Social gatherings following each meeting have helped to bring students and faculty together on a more informal basis than is possible in classrooms. The society plans to have as additional annual activities visits to places of historical interest and a picnic. The entire program is planned in accordance with the society's purpose of promoting greater unity among faculty, majors, and other students interested in history. Enthusiasm demonstrable by heavy attendance at meetings show this club to be a necessary fixture on the Hill since its birth in 1925.

The All Around Club

*Second Row: Hall, Nickerson, Walkley

THE functions of the All Around Club are social and every girl at Jackson is automatically a member.

The eighth of October, in conjunction with Panhellenic Council, the Executive Board of the club held a tea dance at the Jackson Gymnasium immediately following the Amherst football game. This was the first event of this kind to be held on the hill and it proved to be a great success with plenty of stags on both sides.

On Homecoming Day, November fifth the annual Jackson Activity Tea took place. The purpose of this tea was to acquaint the freshmen with the other girls, including alumnae returned for the day, and to bring to their attention the various clubs, societies, and sports that the college has to offer. Each activity in which Jackson girls have an active part held some sort of exhibition, including such things as action pictures of various sports, and original costume sketches and stage technicians' plans for productions by 3 P's. Besides these materials, each activity was represented at the tea by a Jackson member, who served as a hostess and also explained and described the purposes and structure of her particular group. Besides having plenty of good food and the exhibits by the different organizations, the Glee Club was present and entertained with a few selections.

The first week-end after spring vacation the board was in charge of the Jackson Spring Formal, one of the smoothest dances of the year. Through the years this dance has gained the reputation of having unique decorations, and this spring the theme of tulips was no exception. All Jackson blossomed out to dance to sophisticated rhythm under soft lights. The spring formal has always been the first dance after spring vacation, and as such it has the quality of putting everyone into a very gay mood and of ushering in the busy social season which follows closely upon this event. However, Jackson's interest is not entirely social. Proof that the girls are genuinely interested in current topics of wide cultural significance is the enthusiastic manner with which they received the speaker sponsored by All Around Club.

An All Around Clubbing

Accoutred in their play suits one afternoon in the eighties, Tufts men were saddened at the lack of glamour girls attending school. Aroused by this situation an inspired Weekly editor bewailed the paucity of glamour girls at Jackson.

In response the fair, but indignant, lassies of Jackson turned out the following day in their Sunday's best and marched in a glamour parade to show the boys that they had IT, a fact which the boys had to admit.

COACHES OF TUFTS

PROBABLY the main feature of the athletic policy at Tufts College is the complete absence of any practice of subsidizing the boys who compete on the varsity teams representing the Brown and Blue. Competing against schools whose equipment and facilities are oftentimes far superior, Tufts clubs invariably reflect credit on alma mater as a result of their clean hard tactics. But more remarkable than victories gained against superior odds is the calibre of the coaches in whose hands "Pop" Houston, director of athletics, has intrusted the reins of Jumbo's athletic destinies. In fact, there are very few institutions in the country which can boast such a staff of versatile and broadened sports mentors.

Responsible for the "simon-pure" athletic policy at Tufts is shrewd, economical Professor Clarence F. Houston, capable Director of Athletics.

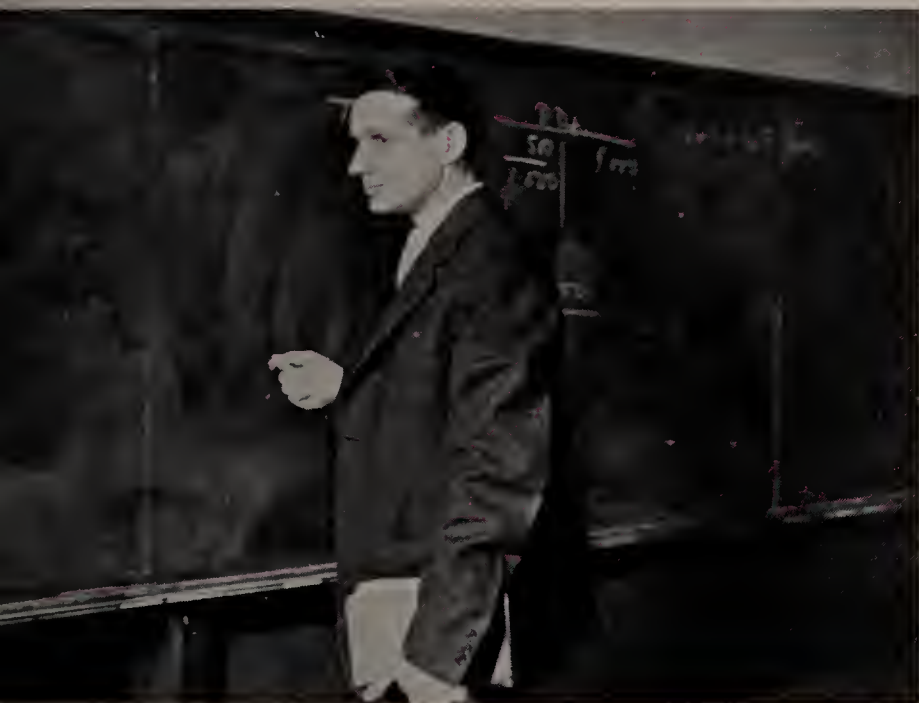

Head of the Department of Physical Education, Dr. Yeager doubles as cross country and track coach, aided by "Dinger" Dussault, former Georgetown flash.

Chet Delano; most widely known sports mentor among students, coaches the major freshman sports.

BOOK IV

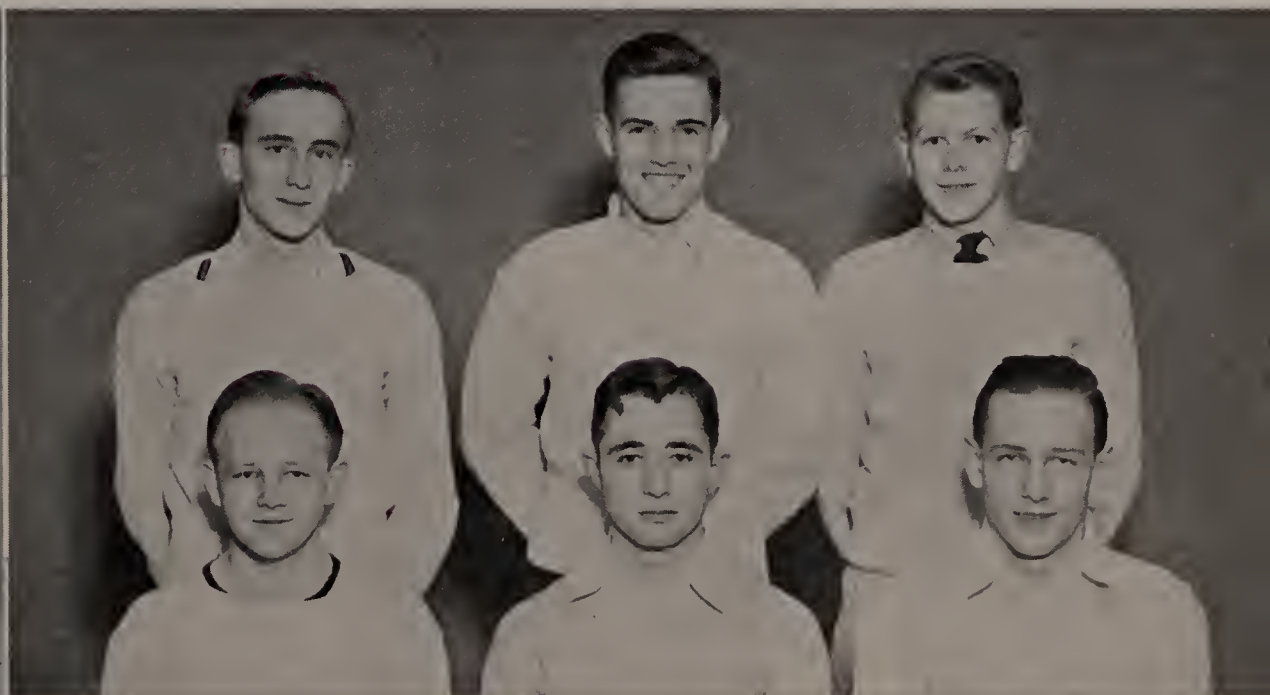

Professor Lew Manly of the Economics Department, most studious of the Staff, also one of the greatest students of the grid game among Eastern coaches.

Essential factor in administrative offices at Ballou, Art Cochran rates as one of youngest, brightest basketball coaches in New England. Also scrimmages with pupils.

Completing nineteen years service at Tufts is former big league diamond great "Ken" Nash, presiding justice at the Quincy Court.

Representing Jumbo fandom are unselfish, spirited cheerleaders: Standing, Wellington, Symonds, Brown; Sitting, Bernstein, McNeish, Adams.

FOR a small college, Tufts offers its thousand odd students a well rounded athletic program. Each succeeding season of the college year finds Tufts teams in numerous athletic endeavors. Besides the regular varsity sports there are corresponding Intramural activities where the less proficient athlete is granted the opportunity of showing his wares.

Of immense importance to the success of Jumbo sports is the coaching staff, the members of which are well-known in the sporting world for their teaching competency. Thus it is that the newcomer to Tufts is afforded the opportunity of participating in his favorite sport under the keen observance of an experienced coach.

The fall sports list of 1938 included varsity football under the guidance of head coach, Lew Manly, line coach Syke Rachdorf, and backfield coach, Fred "Fish" Ellis. There was also a junior varsity handled by one of the assistants. In charge of freshman football was Chet Delano, assisted by Charles Fitz. Varsity soccer was conducted by Warren Morton, while W. W. Lewis took care of freshman soccer. William S. Yeager guided both varsity and freshman cross-country teams.

The winter sports curriculum comprised basketball, the destinies of which were directed by Coach Arthur Cochrane. Bennie Collier was mentor of the jayvee courtmen. Chet Delano looked after the yearling quintet. Sam Ruggieri held the reins of the varsity wrestling team as well as the freshmen. The indoor track team was coached by William Yeager aided by Dinger Dussault who also had freshman track in his care.

The spring sports composed varsity baseball, the head tutor of which was Judge Nash. Chet Delano was Jumblet diamond mentor. Timmy Ring steered the varsity lacrosse outfit while Bill Howard presided over the tennis team activities.

For a fixed charge on their term bill, students receive in return a season ticket to all sports. Automatically they then become members of the Tufts College Athletic Association.

Coaches, A. A., Varsity Club

The Board of Directors of the association is made up of three members of the faculty. In addition there are six members of the student body—three officers, two senior delegates, and one junior delegate. The three officers for 1938-39 were: A. M. Pearson, '39, President; J. A. Adams, '39, Vice President; G. A. Edwards, Secretary. The Senior members were J. T. Weeks and J. G. Weldon. The Junior member was E. J. Sheehan, '40.

This group is elected by the four classes in the spring and is nominated from Sophomore and Junior lettermen by Tower Cross Society.

The function of the board is to award letters, to fill vacancies caused by the resignation of a captain or manager, and to act in advisory capacity to the Director of Athletics Clarence Huston concerning matters relative to the conducting of intercollegiate athletics.

Meetings are held three times a year within ten days of the termination of each seasonal sport for the purpose of awarding letters. Special meetings, however, are held when called for by the chairman of the Board.

In the fall of 1937 through the efforts of Harold Zimman and a group of other athletic captains, the Varsity Club was formed. The purpose of this organization was to further the progress of the present and future athletic situation of the college.

A series of meetings followed by talks of notable men in the field of sport, a banquet, and a sub-freshman night at a mid-winter basketball game comprised the activities of the Varsity club.

Though any athlete who had won a "T" was eligible to participate in the activities of the body few took advantage to do so, and the future of this club is negligible if no spirit nor funds on the part of alumni continue.

The officers this year were: George Edwards, President; Walter Yakeys, Vice President; James Weldon, Treasurer; and Donald Newton, Secretary.

DOGGED by a persistent jinx which refused to be shaken until the last game, the 1938 Tufts footballers would have had an unsuccessful season had not the only victory been that over the Mass Staters. Captain Al Pearson's team, potentially powerful on paper, were surprised in their opener and met some mishap in every game until the closing fray—the record showing six defeats, one tie, and one win.

COLBY 23—TUFTS 0

Journeying to Waterville in high spirits for the opener and favored over the Colby aggregation, Coach Manly's Tuftsmen were taken for the first time in thirteen tries ranging over a period of approximately twenty-five years. Play was rather listless and sloppy even for an opening game and the Jumbo team was clearly outplayed as proved by the statistics. Tufts threatened twice during the first half but fizzled. Colby scored and converted again in the third and fourth quarters.

AMHERST 34—TUFTS 7

In the first home game the gridsters again failed to click as a unit and were swamped by an Amherst team which dominated the play except for several Jumbo flashes in the first and last periods. Taking to the air, the Tuftsmen gained many yards but the same air attack, when intercepted by the Lord Jeffs, allowed the visitors to get in scoring position twice. Amherst scored. Tufts attacked successfully and by Bennett's conversion enjoyed a short-lived 7-6 lead. The remainder of the tilt saw only Amherst scores with a Tufts safety in the last period closing a gloomy Saturday afternoon.

MIDDLEBURY 10—TUFTS 7

The following week, at the Oval, to the surprise of Middlebury and the displeasure of Tufts, Mahoney of the Middlers managed to lead the visitors to a shaky victory in what they considered their toughest game. The game opened with an uninspired exchange of the ball in a series of intercepted passes. Following a Middlebury interception, a series of kicks forced Tufts back towards its own goal line from where a field goal was scored upon her. The Jumbo score and conversion was the next event to break the monotony of the kicking duels. In the fourth quarter the Middlers capitalized on a blocked Griffin kick to score from the Tufts 30-yard stripe with the conversion successful.

TUFTS 6—WILLIAMS 6

At Williamstown, outclassing Williams in nearly every department, but still unable to dodge the jinx, Tufts earned a tie against a heavily favored opponent in a tilt marked by fumbles. The Jumbos opened with a spirited drive to the Purple 10 only to be stopped by a stiff defending line. Ieradi recovered a fumble to set the stage for a Griffin to Smith pass which scored. Halfway through the second canto a fumbled punt allowed Williams to recover and start a successful attack on the Tufts goal.

consisted of joekeying back and forth except in the final minutes when a determined Tufts attack through the crumbling Purple line was desperately stopped before a score.

BROWN 48—TUFTS 0

Of the Brown game at Providence little may be said except that a clearly superior Bruin elawed Jumbo badly.

NEW HAMPSHIRE 10—TUFTS 6

Bad breaks dogged Tufts to the fourth defeat at the Oval the following week when, although the statistics showed Jumbo superior the New Hampshire Wildeats scored a field goal and a touchdown too much to take the home team. The Tufts score was earned in the last stanza with a fumble recovery by Al Pearson allowing a Chiros-Smith pass which scored. New Hampshire's tally came as a result of an interecepted pass despite the gallant fifty yard run of Art Griffin who stopped the ball carrier on the Tufts 3-yard marker.

BOWDOIN 19—TUFTS 6

Bewildered at Bowdoin by two fast scores in the first ten minutes of play Tufts rallied following Griffin to put up a good battle. The team started to eliek in the second period when Jaek West recovered a fumble. Griffin, Yakeys, Hosmer and Fiorini combined in running and passing through 47 yards for the Tufts score. Finally, in the last period, the Polar Bears again broke loose to score.

TUFTS 7—MASS STATE 6

The final battle was the Mass State encounter in the mud and rain of the Oval where the Brown and Blue edged their traditional rivals. The team worked as a unit and with various individuals receiving special mention for important work well-done. The Tufts score resulted when Ted Haselton broke through to smother a punt on the Staters 26-yard line in the third quarter. With the ball in their possession the Jumbos were able to hand it to Art Griffin who ran through the sloppy field to score. With the score a tie, Al Bennett was withdrawn from the line to kiek the all-important point.

Cross-Country

Second Row: Keigan, Philipps, Atkinson, Nygaard

First Row: Philbrook, Lee, Lewis, Lundgren, Coach Yeager

UNDER the able coaching of William S. Yeager and the inspirational leadership of Captain Bill Atkinson, the Tufts College Cross Country team, winning one of three regular meets, and placing third in the New England College tournament in which fifteen colleges were entered, enjoyed a better than average 1938 season.

The Jumbo harriers started the campaign auspiciously on October 15 by defeating Amherst at Amherst by a score of 24-31. Captain Atkinson was first home in this meet with Hal Nygaard trailing a close second. Jillson, Lee and Kiegan finished in the sixth, seventh, and eight slots respectively for Tufts.

The next meet at the Tufts Oval, October 21, found Atkinson breaking the course record by ten seconds, but this time was bettered by Herman of Wesleyan. Tufts lost by the narrow margin of 29-26. Nygaard came home third, Lee was fifth, Phillips eighth, and Jillson ninth.

The Tri meet, M. I. T. versus Northeastern versus Tufts, resulted in a poor Brown and Blue showing. Due to illness of several members, the harrier team was not at its best. Atkinson and Nygaard captured the respective first and second places. The next man in, however, was far down the list it being Doc Jillson number 11. Lee was twelfth and Philbrook fifteenth. A little better showing by these last three men would have meant a Tufts victory. The final account read Tufts 48, Northeastern and M. I. T. 38.

The grand climax of the season was the New England Tournament staged at Franklin Park with fifteen colleges competing.

Tufts did exceedingly well gaining third place with 102 points as against Bates 96 and Maines 92, the leaders. Atkinson ended the four-mile course second in the fast time of 22.13. Other Tuftonians placing were Jillson 21, Philbrook 60, Phillips 70, and Lundgren 85.

Hal Nygaard was elected captain for the 1938 season and Cliff Miller was appointed manager to succeed W. Poor.

Soccer

ORDINARILY when any athletic team wins only two games over the course of an entire season all concerned would rather be silent concerning the matter, but not so with the 1938 Jumbo soccer team. For several years fortunes on the Hill have been at a low ebb, in fact the only thing lower was the depression. At any rate, a combination of hustle and bustle brought some encouraging results and Tufts was once again a power to be heard from in eastern soccer circles.

With a roster of green but promising sophomores and several rugged juniors interspersed with a few seniors the team began to show improvement, until finally, not one, but two, stiff opponents fell before the wayside on successive Saturdays 1-0 and 2-0. Neither the Brown Bear nor the Tech Engineers were anyone's punching bag since both boasted average seasons before meeting the Jumbo. But a couple of men named Jenkins and Kelley spelled doom for the enemy on both occasions.

Early season performances gave indication of the Brown and Blue's emergency from the soccer cellar as a strong Harvard team was forced to wait until the final periods to gain the decision. Then followed in quick succession two narrow defeats at the hands of Williams and Wesleyan 3-1 and 3-2 despite some brilliant goal-tending by Breen and Pecheux.

For some unknown reason a lapse took place in mid-season during which time not a goal was scored against Amherst and the unusual Worcester Poly Institute team which rolled up a 7-0 score.

Then came the bombshell which brought a satisfying conclusion to an already improved season as the Jumbos held their last two opponents scoreless while George Kelley, Fred, Jenkins and Nick Bounkes sent home the final goals of the season.

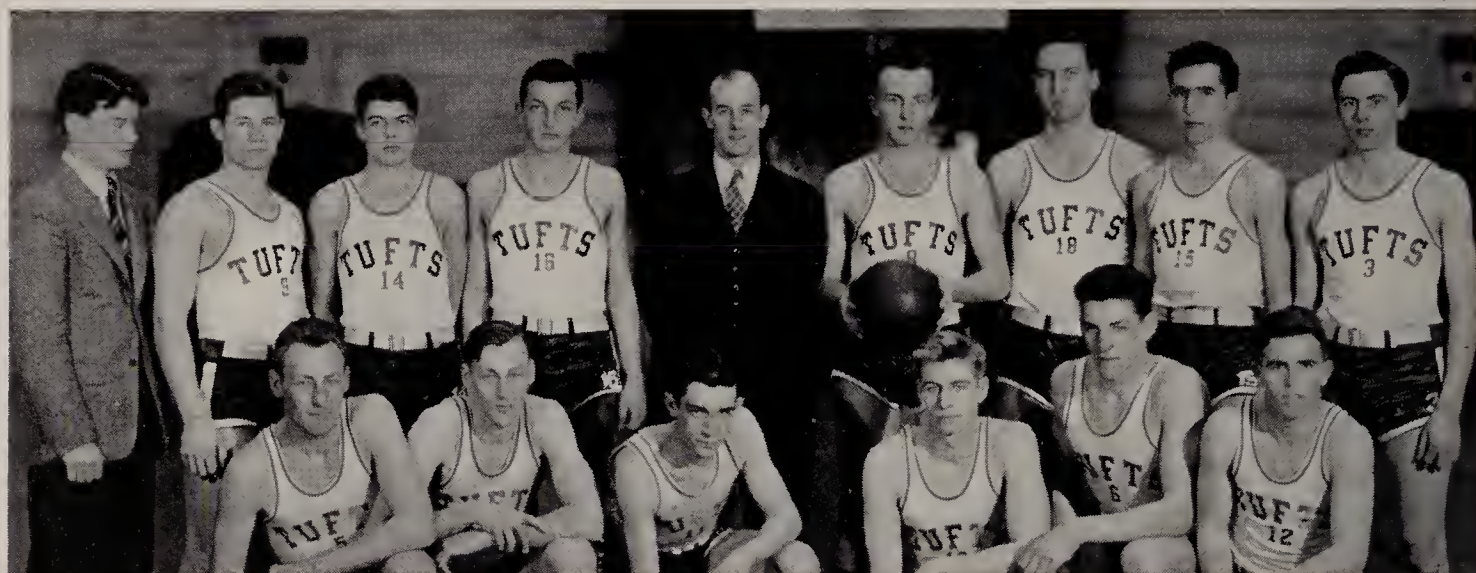

But as we said before, the success of the season lies not wholly on the statistics but rather in the fact that eight of the eleven men will return in 1939 to be re-enforced by several of this years' sophomore substitutes.

Letter winners were: John Ghublekian, Stanley Kaziniac, Henry Pecheux, George Bowser, Stuart Leach, Leo Barsalou, Andrew Mastoic, Nicholas Bounakes, Jack Westervelt, Norman Rockwood, Fran Smith, Donald Newton, Arthur W. Coolidge, Jr., George Kelley, Fred Jenkins, and Lewis Stillman, Mgr.

THE 1939 Tufts varsity basketball quintet went through a seventeen game schedule, winning seven and losing ten, thus gaining fourteenth place in the New England league.

Three of the Tuftonian losses were by the slim margin of one point; these were to Union, Amherst, and Massachusetts State. The most impressive victory recorded by Arthur Cochran's Jumbo courtmen during the 1939 season was the 62-50 triumph registered against Rhode Island State, one of the most formidable fives in the eastern part of the country. Boasting twenty-two straight victories and carrying the highest scoring player in the country, Chet Jaworski, within its ranks, the visiting Rams anticipated no trouble on the Tufts court. It was up to the brilliant Charlie Tibbs, Brown and Blue pivot man, however to completely outmaneuver Jaworski and spear-head his team's attack with 37 points to cleanly outclass Rhode Island. Also playing outstanding roles against R. I. were Captain Jim Weldon, Fred Jenkins, Henry Pecheux, and Phil Varney.

Tibbs 37 points in the R. I. tilt was a new Cousens court scoring record. Tibbs also captured the honor of being the third highest scorer in New England on a percentage basis. In the Seventeen games, he netted 255 points.

The Tufts season got off to an auspicious commencement when the Tuftonians downed their first four adversaries on the home court in an impressive manner. Then when the club took to the road for its next few encounters, however, injuries and bad luck dogged the Jumbo trail. Weldon and Jenkins in particular were bothered with ailments during the latter part of the list of battles. With the exception of the Rhode Island and New Hampshire games, Tufts failed to show the class which she exhibited in the early season tilts.

The first game, December 14, found Tufts opposing Northeastern with the former coming out on top by a 30-21 count. Tibbs with 12 points and Barney with 7 shared scoring laurels.

Two nights later, Tufts again won an easy victory, this time over Bates 54-32.

Tibbs, Varney, and Weldon were the high men. Before the Christmas holidays, the Jumbos sent Clark University down to defeat 65-44.

In the first match of the new year, Harvard fell before the Tufts onslaught 44-29. Varney tallied ten points while Pearson performed well offensively and defensively. Lutz led the Crimson with 11 points. The opening contest of a four-game road trip initiated the Brown and Blue woe. Tibbs, principal scoring threat, was bottled up by Platt of Brown who sank 14 points to aid his team's 33-26 victory considerably. Tufts then journeyed to New York where it lost a heartbreaker to Union College 47-46. Leading throughout most of the game, the men from Medford were denied a win in the closing moments. Tufts then moved back to Williams where it lost its third game in a row 26-36. Finally on the home stretch, the Jumbos captured their first prize, decisively trimming Springfield 38-27, thus marking the first Tufts victory on the Gymnast's court.

Back on the home floor once again, the Brown and Blue eked out a close one over New Hampshire 44-42 with Phil Varney coming forth as the hero, sinking the winning basket with seconds left to play.

Boston University then stepped into the picture and administered two straight defeats to Art Cochran's forces. Tibbs piled up 24 points in the first B. U. fray and ten in the second, but his mates failed to find the range as often. The first tabulation was 44-37, the second 50-42. Lawry, Nechtem, and Rotman starred for B. U.

Against Amherst came another one point loss, this time 39-38. Tufts set the pace through most of the encounter with Tibbs and Varney showing the way. It was a last minute surprise rally by Amherst which proved too much for Tufts.

The Tuftonians then smeared Rhode Island to the amazement of the experts, but looked pitably weak in the following game against Massachusetts State, surrendering its third one point loss 41-42.

Brown in a return game again topped the listless Cochran men 41-31. In a game on the M. I. T. court, Tufts once more succumbed 33-41.

In the final engagement of the season in the Worcester Tech Gym, Tufts endeavored vainly for a victory but fell short 61-52. Captain Weldon, in his last game for the Tufts sparkled gloriously, cavorting adeptly on the defense and tallying nineteen points in the losing cause.

For the 1939-1940 campaign Charlie Tibbs was elected captain of the Jumbo varsity and Cliff Emery was appointed varsity manager.

WINTER track activities embodied not only a mixture of team co-operation but also a fair measure of individual brilliance and considerably more promise of prosperity for the future. Nor were all the Tufts winter track efforts limited to local cinder paths for the Gardens in New York and Boston saw a lot of Jumbo activity.

The co-operation resulted in one of the most successful indoor seasons enjoyed by a winter track team in recent years. Hit hardest by the Jumbos in dual competition were the University of New Hampshire's Wildcats whose chief opposition was provided in the garnering of third places. In that meet, as in most of the others, the name "writ largest" was that of Eddie Dugger, the Negro sophomore. Invincible among local competition in the hurdles, Dugger also garnered points consistently in the dashes, longer sprints and aided the relay team which, by the way, was one of the best in years. Dugger, however, did not confine his activities to dual competition but entered several hurdle events at the various sponsored "Games" in Boston, and New York where he ran against the best in the country, including Tolmich Staley, Shields, and O'Conner. In all of these encounters Dugger nearly always entered the finals but gave away to form and experience in the persons of Tolmich and Staley.

Among those most improved over last years' form was the veteran high-jumper Laurie Grant who not only bettered last season's heights but kept improving throughout the campaign.

In the dash events laurels go to the speedy Frank Bennett, sophomore, last season's frosh standout who showed to advantage many times but who lacked consistency.

The relay team of Lundgren, Keigan Brainerd and Dugger met with more than average success and the performances by the four sophomores added a tinge to the already ruddy complexion of Coach Dussault for it is his intention to develop this sophomore contingent and keep it intact.

Brightest of the bright lights in the track panorama was easily Dussault's relay combination which acquitted itself exceptionally well in dual and triple competition as well as on the Garden boards. In fact their winter showing gave rise to the prophecy that here was one of the best mile-relay teams to represent Tufts in years not solely upon what the present returned but upon what the future promises. Here Coach Dussault has four under-classmen who will be together as a unit for two years which time should be enough, considering the material to fashion a relay four that will stand up with the best, large and small, in dual competition. Many difficulties of course were found and not all have as yet been remedied but another season should see many victories from this group on the basis of the past season's performance.

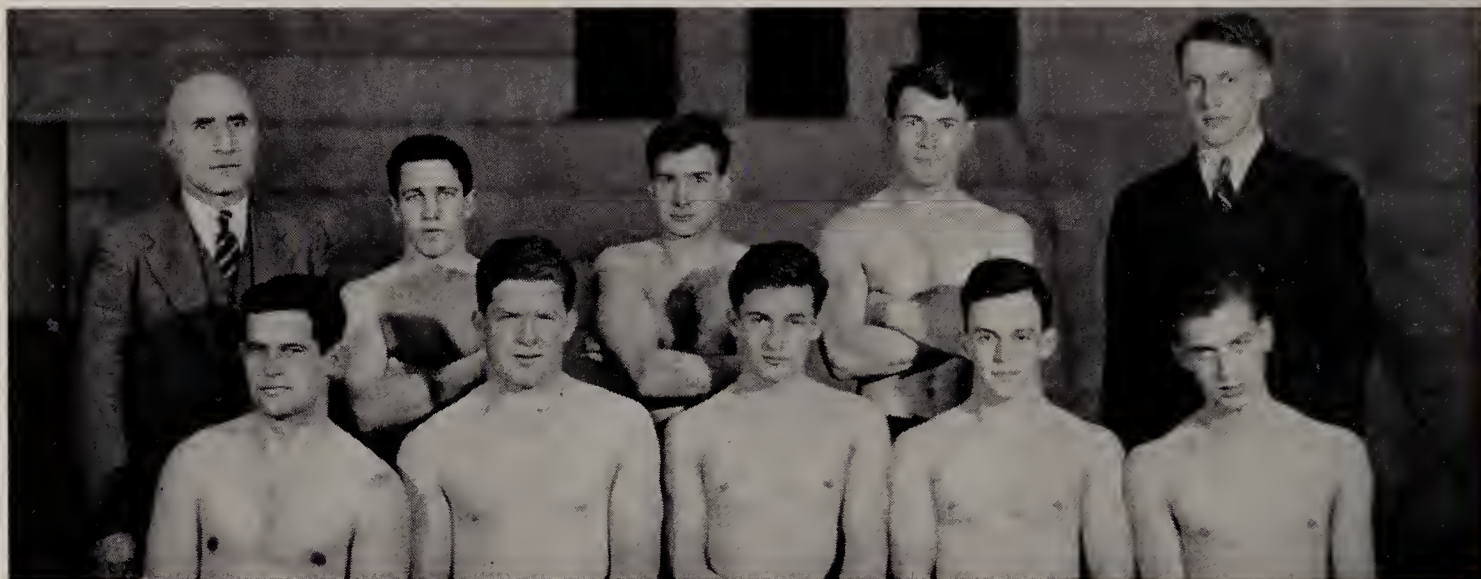

Another of the Jumbo bright lights who has already been mentioned is Bill Atkinson as this past season's acting-Captain and next year to be co-captain. Bill began the year not in track competition but in cross-country where he fared considerably better than the average, being first more often than not and when not he was generally second. In track he continued his winning ways and his outstanding achievement during winter competition was the victory in a featured mile at the Boston Garden where he completed the course in rather satisfactory time. In dual competition he was even more invincible and the fives that he garnered were very often the coach's breathing margin.

Don Newton ended his track career at Tufts in a most desirable standard of competition—consistency for Don was always well up in the pack in the point column at the finish and on several occasions added the extra points needed to give the edge.

As to next year, there are two freshmen who will graduate to varsity competition and upon whom Dussault has been casting hungry glances ever since the early season. These men are: Walter Hall and Ray Valente both of whom give promise of a phenomenal future.

Wrestling

THE VARSITY Wrestling Team had a fairly successful season, managing to win 3 out of 7 meets. As opener of the season, the boys encountered the powerful gymnasts from Springfield on January 14, who specialize in Wrestling. Co-captain Gerry Edwards, Steve Putnam, Ralph Sherry and little Shortie Baker earned the points for Tufts, but this lead was not enough. Springfield took over the remaining bouts winning by a score of $19\frac{1}{2}$ - $10\frac{1}{2}$.

The next meet was an informal one with Harvard in Cousens Gym on January 19. the highlight of the meet was the bout between Sherry and Chief Boston. Although the bout ran into an overtime, much to the surprise of everyone, the decision was awarded to Boston. Thus Tufts was completely defeated with a score of 34-0.

On February 14, the boys journeyed over to M. I. T. in Cambridge to score their first win of the season by a margin of 26-8. Captain Edwards, Tsolas, Baker, Willey, Putnam and Sherry piled up the score by each winning their bouts.

At the next meet February 18, the boys met the Lord Jeffs on the home mat winning over a highly favored team by a score of 18-9. By far this meet was the best attended and most exciting of the whole season. Baker, Edwards, and Putnam won decisions, while, much to the delight of all, Al Bennett very neatly pinned his man to the tune of 5 points, and naturally Sherry won which definitely clinched the second victory of the season for Tufts.

On Thursday morning February 23, the boys boarded the train hopefully for their road trip into Pennsylvania. Every year Tufts makes this trip to wrestle with Franklin and Marshall and Tempie University. However at both places the boys were badly beaten by a score of 30-0 at Franklin and 27-5 at Temple. Sherry was the only one to score when he pinned his man at Temple.

As a finale to the season the boys travelled down to attack the Brown Bear March 4, and were well rewarded for their spunk by a score of 17-13. Baker, Ed-

The following men won letters in Varsity Wrestling: Crosby Baker, George Edwards, Alton Bennett, George Tsolas, Gordon Willey, Steven Putnam, Ralph Sherry, Robert Sears, and Buzz Morehouse and Fred Brinnick, the two managers.

Lacrosse

The 1938 season was not a success, but the lads enjoyed themselves a lot. Tim and his men met New Hampshire at Durham on April 16 to open the season, and were on the short end of a 14-3 score; on April 20 the boys journeyed to Harvard at Cambridge where they came in second best with the score reading 9-4; on the 22nd of April the Dartmouth Indians invaded the campus and scalped the team 11-0; M. I. T. came over for a match on the 27th and lost after a hard fought game at the Gym field; On May 4 the Boston Lacrosse Club, a group of all star athletes, graduated from various colleges, visited at Tufts and had to be satisfied with an 8-8 tie after a close fight; then the men went on a road trip over the weekend of May 13-14, on the former they met Williams at Williamstown and received a 7-0 set-back at the hands of a very experienced lineup. On the second day Union swamped the team, 13-4. On the second road trip, they first met Colgate on the 20th at Hamilton and fought desperately but only drew a tie; on the 21st the boys rolled on to Hobart at Schenectady and dropped to game to the undefeated, untied veterans by a score of 19-0.

The following men were awarded "T" sweaters for their participation in the sport! Leo Barsalou, Bob Beckvold, Nick Bounakes, L. Butler, Johnny Ciba, Buzz Conforti, Linc Crosby, Bill Dolben, J. Gould, Jim Graham, Charlie Hammond, Phil LeRoyer, Dave O'Brien, Mike Rossman, Charlie Spear, Joe Sullivan, J. Urbon, S. Williams, and Joe Consolmagno.

For the year 1939 the Co-captains were Bill Dolben and Dave O'Brien, the Manager was Sumner Berenson, and the Assistant Manager was Cliff Wauters.

The 1939 season opened when the men met Harvard at Cambridge on April 19, New Hampshire here on the 22nd, Boston Lacrosse Club here on the 27th and Williams here on the sixth of May.

On May 12, they played Springfield there and on the 13th they tackled Union at Schenectady.

On May 27, the team journeyed to Hanover to meet the Dartmouth Indians on their field.

THE baseball season of 1938 is ancient history now. Winning seven contests, four of which included decisions over Harvard, Boston University, Boston College, and Brown University; the Jumbos dropped a like number.

Performances of the players as a whole were quite mediocre, although pitchers Al Hatch and Johnny Hughes showed flashes of brilliancy with Al Galuszka, handicapped at the start of the season with a bum leg capably maintaining the burden of twirling chores at the tail end of the season. The fielding of Captain Bennie Collier at second and sophomore Georgie Chiro at shortstop was good enough to earn this keystone combination rating with any New England college duo. The excellent backstopping and all-around hustle of Captain Joe Weeks earned him the reputation as one of the most outstanding receivers ever to attend the college.

This year Coach Nash faced the season with a great deal more optimism than the one just passed in retrospect. And he had good cause to, although his outfield prospects were very dim.

Members of the catching department included the dependable Joe Weeks, who, alongside of his brilliant catching, was one of the leading batters on the squad. Everett Bachman, the diminutive sophomore recruit, came along fast at the close of the season, and even pressed the veteran second-string Al Bennett for active duty. Bennett, however, proved to be the perfect reserve for Coach Nash and filled Weeks' shoes to perfection whenever called upon.

So well did the twirling corps distinguish themselves this season that it was often remarked that they were superior to any seen in the Oval during the past four years. Excellent performances were turned in by Al Hatch who showed a remarkable improvement in getting his fast ball over the plate, and Johnny Gaieski, who in his first year of regular competition gives indications of providing Tufts with a classy club next year when he returns with Hatch. John Hughes recovered his sophomore brilliance, jumped out of his junior jitters and displayed praiseworthy control and headwork. Two other youngsters performing creditably were Bob Patterson, who shows great promise for a sophomore and Steve Demerjian who hurled several times in a relief capacity as did Larry Snow and Bill Paglia, two second-year men.

The infield, though a trifle green nevertheless surprised the bulk of Brown and Blue fandom. Built around George Chiro, who deserves mention as one of the best shortstops every playing ball for Coach Nash, it turned in good exhibitions and next season bids fair to be a smart fielding as well as hitting inner cordon. Lou Gessay who last year batted for .380 as a freshman, covered the second base, while the initial sack was guarded by Lee Geary when Joe Dineen, versatile handy man, was shifted elsewhere. At third Norm Pare, Tommy Lee, and Mark Hanabury divided assignments.

Planting the right seeds in his garden proved to be quite difficult for Coach Nash when he found himself confronted with a lack of competent outfielders. Men patrolling the pastures were Brony Budrunas, Ray Schoales, Bill Walsh, Sonny Raphael, Jim Occhipinti, Pop Starosta, and Tris Wood.

The second opening day festivities in the college's history occurred on April 21 when the Jumbos tackled the Lowell Textile nine.

In addition to the game features of the event were the ceremonies marked by the marching of both teams to the flag pole in left field where Coach Nash hoisted Old Glory while the college band played the "Star Spangled Banner," and the throwing of the first ball of the season by a college official. To add color to this galaxy of attractions the Oval was decorated in red, white, and blue, and free souvenir programs were presented spectators who were also awarded the opportunity to win a Junior Promenade ticket. By special permission of Athletic Director Houston, a Ladies' Day was held.

The trips on the schedule included an overnight to Providence when Providence College and Brown University were played on June 2 and 3; a trip to Amherst to play Mass. State, and a trip to New Haven where the Yale team was met for the first time in some years.

Interest in the diamond sport increased noticeably this past season and it seems that in the immediate future, Jumbo fandom should grow by leaps and bounds. Material is improving and with a mentor with the proven ability of Ken Nash there is no question that the Tufts Jumbo should exert a potent force in intercollegiate baseball.

Tennis

*Second Row: Mgr. Glickstein, Ghublikian, Shepard, Garabedian, Chobanian, Rotenberg, Coach Howard
First Row: Novick, Bonney, Baylies*

The outlook at the beginning of the 1938 Varsity Tennis season showed prospects which were indeed gloomy for Coach Bill Howard. After several years of outstanding teams who enjoyed excellent seasons, last year's picture showed Captain Stott facing a difficult thirteen-match schedule with only four letter-men to support his campaign for the Brown and Blue. Nevertheless, with the progressing of the season, material from the untried sophomore class developed along with the veterans until at the end of the successful campaign a well-rounded unit had been welded together. When the results of the team's work were tallied up, it was found that Rotenberg and Chobanian were the most consistent point winners on the records which showed six wins against four losses in the ten games that were actually played.

The opener was indecisive with Tufts' first unquestionable victory being gained over the invading men from Trinity. Following this win the team suffered one of its worst defeat at the hands of Rhode Island State. Coming back again at Boston College the Tuftsmen produced another tally for the win column which started a streak which included good wins over Clark University and Providence College. Massachusetts Institute of Technology then interfered with a disastrous wallop at the Jumbos which, however, did not stop a Tufts win over Springfield shortly thereafter. Before the end of the season the Harvard Grads managed to overcome Tufts at Tufts.

At the opening of the 1939 season prospects were definitely brighter than in the immediate past. Coach Bill Howard had a group of veteran lettermen to form a nucleus around which several newcomers were fashioned. It was well to note that several veterans were pushed for their places. Baylies, Bernstein, Novick, Garabedian, and Shepard, along with Co-captains Rotenberg and Chobanian, as well as several promising sophomores like Linden were counted upon to carry through a season which was able to stand up alongside the successful seasons of the past years.

The schedule this year included several week-end trips as well as a substantial number of home matches.

Golf

VARSITY golf celebrated its twelfth year at Tufts this spring and it promises to be a successful season, for five lettermen are returning and the extra year's experience will add a great deal of strength to the team. In addition, the newcomers to the squad are very promising.

For its first season, in 1928, the Tufts team played four matches, the next year six, and since then it has averaged seven or eight. Of the thirteen colleges we have played we have failed to beat only three, and we have tied one of these, and another we played only once.

Among all of the managers' reports of the Tufts golf matches there has been only one injury mentioned, and that one becomes a little amusing with the passing years,—in the report of the Bowdoin match in 1928 there remains the brief notation, "Deston (Bowdoin) bad cut on knee climbing fence."

The 1938 season started out with a burst of success when we trounced Colby $8\frac{1}{2}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$. It was a home match played at Oakley and perfect spring weather combined with our favorable score to make a memorable day of it. Our next match was at Brown and the conditions were almost exactly reversed—the weather was cold and showery and the results were 2 to 7 against us. Bud Dempsey was the hero of this day, winning his individual match and combining with Nate Parker to win the foursome. Wes "Pro" Boyce was the only other Tufts point earner, gaining a half in his individual match. Our next was a close fought battle with M. I. T. Bill Ward and Captain Nate won their individuals, and another point and a half won in the foursomes brought our score to $3\frac{1}{2}$ against Tech's $5\frac{1}{2}$. Our next match was the season's one disaster; we came home from Worcester Polytech rather sheepishly at the wrong end of a 6 to 0 score. We made up for that the next day, though, by edging out B. C. It was our keenest desire of the season to win this match and the $3\frac{1}{2}$ points gained by George Marsh, Parker, and Ward topped nicely the $2\frac{1}{2}$ that B. C. got. The New England Intercollegiates, held at Oakley, ended the season, and the Tufts team acquitted itself well by climbing four positions above its place among the New England colleges the previous year.

Lettermen for the season were Nate Parker, Bud Dempsey, George Marsh, Bill Ward, "Pro" Boyce, and Sam Hamilton. This year our schedule included all the colleges we played last year and in addition we played Bowdoin, Boston University, and R. I. State.

Parker, Capt.-Mgr., Boyce, Ward, Marsh, Burden, Dempsey

Freshman Sports

THE Tufts Freshman Football team opened their season with an 18-0 victory over Dean Academy in a game featured by the running of Harrison and Rutter. The following week the Jumblets fell before the onslaught of an aerial attack executed by Huntington Prep school. The team shaped up fairly well and was featured by the running and passing of the same combination as the first session. Probably the feature game of the season was the tilt with Northeastern when the young Huskies were treated to an unexpected beating to the tune of 13-7. The score was 7-7 through the game till the last minutes when a pass from Harrison to Arnold was set up by Tagan for the winning tally. The first score was on a run by Rutter. A clearly superior Andover outfit was an easy victor over the Jumblets when the defense blew up after the first half when the Brown and Blue was able to hold the prepsters 7-6. Letter winners were Arnold, Beatrice, Brooks, Colvin, Cummings, Curtis, Doe, Finn, W. Gerrish, Harrison, Kasarjian, Kimball, Lister, Manley, Mangione, Peck, Pitman, Ritchie, Rutter, Shanahan, Sheilds, Tagen, Watts, Wilcon.

The soccer team had an uneventful season with the following winning letters: Allen, Ayer, Barry, Batchelder, Benedict, Caesar, Cormain, Eynation, Fairchild, Garlick, Graham, Gold, Hallock, Knights, Kritznacker, G. Mitchell, Natanson, Pacino, Pierce, Righello, Rock, Searles, Sapulcino, Pierce, Righello, Rock, Searles, Spaulding, Waldron, West, and Wilson.

The freshman cross country aggregation consisted of the following letter winners: H. Emery, Morganson, Vitale, Page, Vincent, Madden, Perkins, and Morton.

When the Frosh basketball season opened there was a turn-out of some familiar faces as well as a few faces new to the Freshman sports followers. In the opener which was taken by Northerneastern by the narrow margin of one point, Harrison, Kimbally, and Snyder were outstanding and showed potentialities which were confirmed as the season progressed. Two days later the Lowell Y. M. C. A. boys took a trip down here where they administered a 47-23 defeat to the Delano-boys. After a rest during the vacation the Jumblets dropped a 40-27 tilt to a superior Harvard group which showed the benefits of somewhat more experience. Five days later on the trip to Brown the Tufts Frosh put up a good fight but were defeated by an unfamiliar gym of peculiar characteristics as well as the superior reserves and height of the Brown yearlings. Snyder played a good game here. On January 13 and 14 the second team dropped one to Arlington High and beat Wakefield High by a narrow margin. On the 18th the Babson Institute boys were defeated by the Frosh who swamped the invaders 57-22. A faster University of New Hampshire freshman aggregation proved superior to the Brown and Blue in the next encounter on February 1. At Boston University the Tufts boys put up a valiant but unsuccessful fight during which they showed a great improvement over their earlier games. On the return engagement over here, Delano's kids seemed tired and lacked the push of the first encounter and came out of the fray on the short end. The second team in its next engagement skinned by to a decision over an invading Plymouth High group while on the same day the firsts took over Dean Academy with a decisive score. A couple of days later the invading

Rhode Island Staters with their usual brand of circus stuff managed to confound the home team to a 70-44 score. A week later the seconds were defeated by the Fairhaven High group which made a trip up to Tufts while that evening Tufts was defeated by Andover by a narrow margin. Tufts showed a fine brand of ball but was outclassed. Two days after that struggle the seconds were severely trounced by Needham high, to close their season. In the last two games of the season the firsts really found their stride and won a clean decision over the invading Brown athletes when they took the Bruins by a 51-45 score in a game which outshone the Varsity match for thrills. At M. I. T. the Jumblets squeaked through by one point in a game which was Tufts' despite the closeness of the score. Letter winners were Marshall Snyder, E. E. Kimball, F. J. Ranieri, R. Van Gundy, B. J. Gaiski, C. Beskin, R. J. Scannall, A. F. Harrison, V. R. Napoli, D. W. Pitman, E. F. Hutchinson.

The Freshman Wrestling team had a rather unsatisfactory season if the scores alone were to be the basis for evaluation but the experience gained should be valuable in varsity work in the next few years. At Amherst the grunt and groaners tied the Lord Jeffs at 18 all with Abbot, Cummings, and Mitchell accounting for the points. Tufts lost to Brown by a close score, to Governor Dummer, was shut out by Exeter, lost to M. I. T., Haverhill High, Andover, Harvard and Weymouth High. Outstanding during the season were Nick Shields, Mathew Cummings, Abbott and Mitchell. Letter winners were: J. L. Bishop, F. K. Abbott, G. M. Mitchell, C. C. Maloof, A. A. Schaal, M. Cummings, J. A. Whitlock, H. L. Knights, C. W. Waldron, Jr., and M. J. Axelrod.

The Track season showed up some freshmen who will gladden the heart of Coach Dussault in varsity competition next year. In the meet with M. I. T., Valente earned six points with Knowles and Wolfson earning five each. Others earned enough to bring the total up to 28 while M. I. T. garnered 52. When St. John's came to Tufts they gathered up 51 points while Tufts under the leadership of Valente, Emery, and Wolfson led Tufts to its 26 points. Tufts edged Huntington by foul points in a dual meet with Valente, Prout and Thompson leading the scoring. Boston College's superior tracksters swamped the Tuftsters by a 56-16 score. The yearlings defeated Lynn English 61-25 with Valente and Wolfson again accounting for the greater part of the score.

The outcome of Freshman Tennis, Lacrosse, and Baseball with some schoolboy stars forming a nucleus resulted in a creditable season.

Intramural Athletics

THE 1939 winter season of Intramural Athletics proved the most active since the inauguration of the pastime some ten years ago. Basketball established itself as the most attractive sport drawing a quota of twenty-two teams which were distributed among three leagues. Wrestling and squash though not quite as popular as basketball were nevertheless enthusiastically supported.

The grand finale of the winter Intramural campaign took place on Intramural Night, March 23, in the Cousens Gym when the play-off for the college basketball championship and the wrestling finals took place. Wilson House and the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity were the two competing quintets. The game was close and exciting all the way through with Wilson House forging ahead late in the final canto to win the fracas 30-22.

At the conclusion of the wrestling finals, it was found that the Alpha Tau Omega fraternity had amassed the most points with 63, Alpha Kappa Pi had 50, Delta Upsilon 42, Theta Delta Chi 31, Delta Tau Delta 27, Phi Mu Delta 12, and the Stink Weed Athletic Club 12.

In the Dormitory League the teams finished in the following order: Wilson House, Paige Hall, Dean Hall, East Hall, West Hall, Fletcher Hall. In the Commuters League the clubs ended in this fashion: Royals, S. W. A. C. F. E. C., 1940, 1942 Blues, 1939, and 1942 Reds.

In the Fraternity League: Alpha Tau Omega, Theta Delta Chi, Delta Upsilon, Sigma Omega Psi, Alpha Kappa Pi, Phi Epsilon Pi, Phi Mu Delta, Delta Tau Delta, Zeta Psi concluded the season in that order.

Over all the leagues, Wilson House was declared the champion club, Alpha Tau Omega was awarded second place, the Royals third, and Theta Delta Chi fourth. Five points were awarded for first place, three for second, two for third, and one for fourth.

Leading scorers in each league excluding playoff games were Dormitory—M. Toon (Wilson House) 43; D. Drummond (Dean) 41; H. Smith (Paige) 38; W. Whitney (East) 37; Commuters—J. Dineen (Royals) 41; G. Layman (S. W. A. C.) 37; W. Halpin (S. W. A. C.) 24; Fraternity—P. Starosta (A. T. O.) 71; J. Atlas (S. O. P.) 70; S. Leach (D. U.) 46; and H. Ober (Z. P.) 43.

Charms were awarded to members of the Wilson House quintet, also to Starosta, leading scorer of all three leagues.

In the Intramural squash league the Delta Upsilon fraternity was tied with Alpha Kappa Pi House with two losses and five wins. The Pi Epsilon Pi fraternity, the Alpha Tau Omega House, and the Off-Hill club were all tied for second place with five wins and three losses. Delta Tau Delta was next with four wins, four defeats. Theta Delta Chi followed with three victories, five losses and the Sigma Omega Psi House won one and dropped five.

Over five hundred students participated in Intramural Athletics this year with the result that "Athletics within the college" have grown to play a prominent part in the athletic department at Tufts. Chester K. Delano, who coaches freshmen sports, directs the Intramural League throughout the year.

JACKSON athletics are under the direction of the Athletic Association Council, including the Athletic Association officers: President, Blanche Downing, '39; Vice President, Bertha Platts, '39; Secretary, Betty Emmons, '40; Treasurer, Marjorie Gott, '40; and Freshman Representative, Barbara Hammond, '42; with the Outing Club Officers: Chairman, Mary Jane Karner, '39; Vice Chairman, Theiss English, '40; and Secretary-Treasurer, Caroline Barker, '41; and the managers of the various sports.

This Council, meeting once weekly, functions as a body for controlling the inter-collegiate sports program, and, more important, for directing intra-mural activities and Outing-club events.

Inter-collegiate contests include the fall hockey schedule, the winter basketball games, and in the spring, tennis matches and the Quadrangular Archery Meet.

During the fall season Jackson enjoys the facilities of the golf course and hockey field to the utmost. The Freshman and Sophomore gym classes swing around over the greens under the direction of a professional golf instructor, while the hockey squad practices in preparation for the contests with Wheaton, Pembroke, Radcliffe, and the Inter-Collegiate Officials Field Day. On this Field Day matches between a series of women's colleges provide opportunity for officials to get their rating. The Jackson team in October last year joined the other New England women's colleges at Wellesley, where the team, captained by Bertha Platts and managed by Maxine Gray, gave a good account of itself.

The basketball season opened the first of January, later than usual in order to shorten the practice period which lasts into March. However, intra-mural practice opened as usual in December, since five practices were required before the first intra-mural encounter early in January.

Another innovation was the instituting of training rules. Following suggestions drawn up by Miss Dexter, the captain and the manager, the team laid down a set of rules to be followed during the season. Included in the regime were rules for a minimum of five hours sleep per night, and fifty hours of sleep during a week; a limit of six cigarettes a day; at least six glasses of water a day; nothing to be eaten between meals except plain crackers, plain ice cream, and fruit; and optional outdoor exercise of one-half hour daily. Failure to observe these self-imposed rules meant the loss of points and, after three infractions, suspension from the squad.

The squad this year included a group of Seniors who have played together for four years: Evelyn Hagen, Barbara Burns, Helen Hurley, Eleanor Macomber, Bertha Platts, Bertha Townsend, Barbara Thacher, Mary Jane Karner (Assistant Manager), and Blanche Downing (Captain). The group was managed by a Senior with four years of service, Sybil McKinely, who, having been Assistant Manager as a Freshman, held the manager-ship for three years.

Modern dancing, introduced at Jackson just a few years ago, has rapidly become popular. The dance group in 1938-39 has participated in numerous dance recitals with Otto Ashermann's Dance Group. Intricate movements and individual compositions feature the presentations. Miss Lincks, extremely interested for some time in the art of the dance, has lent much of her enthusiasm to the study, devoting hours of her time to attaining skill herself and to coaching the very capable group of Jacksonites.

The increased popularity of archery, tennis, and modern dancing are part of the recent trend in women's athletics away from the group competition of hockey, basketball, and baseball toward sports in which individuals may compete. The opportunity of building up skills in sports in college which may be further developed and enjoyed in later years is not to be ignored, nor is the increased social popularity of sports such as golf, tennis, and archery, one to be left unconsidered in choosing one's activities.

1938-39 saw a further popularizing of the Jackson intramural system, with fall tennis, winter basketball, and the spring Field Day bringing close rivalry among the four sorority and two non-sorority groups. In each of these seasons a trophy is given to the winning team to be held for one year, these trophies to be in permanent competition.

This past year there has been a further award, in the form of a banner going to Alpha Omicron Pi for having won two of the trophies for 1937-38. The banner, made in the red and white of AO Pi, inscribed with the name of the sorority, the season, and the events won, hangs in the gym for one year, and then goes into the permanent possession of the group. The AO Pi teams were victorious last year in both the basketball season and the spring Field Day events.

The basketball and tennis competition include matches between the teams, with play-offs if necessary. The Field Day, held on a spring afternoon, consists of a series of matches in golf, horseshoes, ring tennis, archery, and badminton, followed by a supper in the Jackson gym, served by the Athletic Association Council to the participants in all varsity and intramural sports during the year.

THE varsity hockey team this year had a successful season, receiving one defeat at the hands of its greatest rival, Wheaton, in a well-played, closely contested game, and winning the Radcliffe and Pembroke games with ease. The members of the squad went to Wellesley to take part in a Hockey Day with representatives from eleven other colleges. Jackson played teams from Wellesley, Bouve, Wheaton, and Sargent. The team owes its success to the able coaching and patience of Miss Lincks and her assistants, and to the general cooperation of the whole squad, led by their captain, Bertha Platts.

Scores were Jackson 1, Radcliffe, 0; Jackson 1, Wheaton 3; Jackson 2, Pembroke, 0.

Outing Club

THE Jackson College Outing Club is an integral part of the College's Athletic Association.

This year the aim of the Outing Club was to give all the girls an opportunity for recreation in an organized group and at a low cost. Its officers tried to plan for an activity each month keeping in mind the season and the necessity of variety in order to appeal to each girl some time during the year.

Two annual events aroused a great deal of interest, namely, the Fall Cook-Out and the Spring Canoe Trip. Besides these two events this year the Club's program included bicycling, bowling, skating, swimming, and hiking.

Jackson Varsity Basketball

WITH a larger number of girls than ever before, including a great deal of fine freshman material vying for places on the varsity squad, the season for the Jackson basketball team promised to be an extra good one. This year a set of training rules was instituted by the vote of the squad members in the attempt to build up the general health and resistance of the girls. Miss Eleanor Dexter, our coach for the last two years, concentrated this year on zone guarding, and this method of defense reached a high degree of effectiveness under her experienced tutelage. With Blanche Downing captaining a team which showed marked enthusiasm, the Jackson sextet finished a successful series of three intercollegiate games.

THE Modern Dance Group is composed of girls who have completed requirements in technique and have done some creative work. The group practices twice a week all year, with more intensive practice during the winter season. Every alternate year, a symposium is held with girls from Radcliffe, Wheaton, and Pembroke at one of the schools, to compare methods of technique and studies created by the different groups. This year, another demonstration was presented at Jackson with Otto Ashermann and his modern dance group, with the Jackson girls taking a large part in the performance. Part of the group has assisted Mr. Ashermann in some of his demonstrations and work with him in the creation of new dances for performance. Modern dancing is now one of Jackson's most popular recreational sports.

The Greek Letter Groups

POTENT force in the college's campus life is the great system of fraternities extant "On Hill." Including almost half of the students as either fratres or pledges, these nine national chapters consequently exert great influence in determining most student policies. Although stories of fraternity "politics" are usually evident after elections or similar events, workings of the frats are not as bad as claimed. In fact, contributions to the life of the student are multifold, socially, economically, and even scholastically. Greatest service to Tufts is explaining traditions of the school to frosh, as well as keeping wary eye out for welfare of neophytes. This year, under the guidance of Inter-fraternity Council and Pan-Hellenic Council—sorority government—a fall week end was held featuring a big band at the lowest "prom-price" in the history of the school.

Good fratres always are quick to approach and welcome prospective pledge. Greet him with beaming faces and healthy handshakes.

Alone in his room after bull sessions with other frosh, the freshman decides to what fraternity he is going to pledge.

Rosiness of rushing days fades as divers chores test calibre of future fratres whose main duties consist of house-work.

BOOK V

In House, advantages of fraternity are explained by upper-classmen who try to awe and impress frosh by their chapter's achievements.

Bowling, movies, smokers, are provided free of charge, but more important than these are dates arranged by fraters.

A few weeks before initiation, "Hell Week" brings out ingenious schemes by Pledgemasters to humiliate pledgees by doing silly stunts.

In mystic rituals, the neophyte is finally inducted into the chapter and given the status and privileges of a brother.

THE Tufts chapter of the national Inter-Fraternity council began its nineteen-thirty-nine season with unprecedented optimism. A more efficient rushing season had been planned, thoughts of an Inter-Fraternity Week-end were in every member's mind, and a generally pleasant and prosperous year was expected.

The rushing plan used this year was similar to last year's arrangement. Restricted rushing was confined to one week during which the fraternities followed strict rules laid down by the council. The rushing was very well conducted and quite successful, for over one hundred men were pledged.

Not content to allow such a successful accomplishment to remain the only high spot the council then turned its attention to a new task. For many years a petty antagonism had existed between the various fraternities at Tufts.

It was quite natural, therefore, that an event calculated to aid in this matter would be sponsored by the council. Such an event was Inter-Fraternity Week-end. Featuring the lilting "music of yesterday and today" of Blue Barron and his Orchestra, "On the Ball" a novel inter-fraternity magazine, a football game between Tufts and Massachusetts State College, fraternity banquets, and houseparties the week-end was quite naturally one of the greatest events of the year and the first of what promises to be many such affairs. A most capable committee consisting of General Chairman, Jacob Atlas; Vice Chairman, William R. Ward; Tickets, Donald A. Cowdery; Guests, Rocco Sapareto; and Refreshments, Crosby Baker, Jr., co-operated with the Pan-Hellenic Council to achieve this success.

As its last act of the year the council elected as new officers: Lauris Grant as President, Gordon Willey as Vice-President, and Leo Geary, Secretary-Treasurer. Thus always acting, never lying idle, the Inter-Fraternity Council justifies its existence.

Pan Hellenic Association

PANHELLENIC ASSOCIATION has become an increasingly important factor in college life within the last year, with the introduction of several progressive features. In addition to the usual Panhellenic Booklet of rules, published at the opening of college, the president, in an informal talk, explained about sororities and their place on the campus to the freshmen.

The annual Fall Formal on October 15, opening the social season, introduced President and Mrs. Carmichael to the student body.

The Interfraternity Ball on November 18th was an innovation because it received the cooperation of both the sororities and the fraternities, and was the outstanding affair sponsored by the combined Tufts and Jackson Greek-letter societies during the entire year.

Panhellenic association sponsored open house teas on November 17 and January 13 in the sorority rooms of the four chapters, to enable the new girls to become acquainted with sorority members in their own groups.

On January 22, the Council established a precedent of having Sunday afternoon tea to acquaint more Jackson students with faculty wives as well as with one another. The practice was continued monthly throughout the spring, each time with a different set of guests, so that by the end of the year, all had been entertained.

Second semester opened as usual with Rush Week. Each sorority entertained its rushees at a formal evening party, and at an informal half-hour period one afternoon. Rushing was climaxed with the Pledge Formal held March 4 at the Hotel Continental in Cambridge.

The most significant progressive feature of the year's program was the three open meetings conducted as forums, in which discussions were held concerning such problems as rushing rules, the quota system, and inter-sorority cooperation.

The Regional Conference of National Panhellenic was held March 17, 18, and 19 in Boston. Jackson College was represented by its delegate, Barbara Glasier, and several members.

Alpha Kappa Pi

TAU CHAPTER of Alpha Kappa Pi was founded at Tufts in 1931. In that year the local fraternity, Delta Phi Sigma, joined the national Alpha Kappa Pi and became the local Tau Chapter. The national fraternity was founded at Newark College of Engineering on January 1, 1921. Since then the fraternity has grown to include twenty-six active chapters and ten active alumni chapters spread out over a good part of the country. There are over 2,300 members.

The chapter occupied the Delta Phi Sigma house at 106 Professors Row until last year when a new building replaced it. The new chapter house is of colonial style with white clapboard front and brick sides. Twenty-one members live in the house.

There are now fifty-four members and pledges taking an active part in the fraternity's affairs. Alpha Kappa Pi is one of the outstanding chapters on the Hill having won the Fraternity Scholastic Award in 1937-38, the Track Award in 1938, the Wretling Cup for 1937-38, the Bowling Cup for several years, and the Individual High in Bowling. This last year, the fraternity received the Grand Fraternity Athletic Award having the highest total score in the various inter-fraternity athletic meets throughout the entire year.

The fraternity is well represented on the sport teams, among the class officers, in the various clubs, and on the honor societies.

One of the ten alumni chapters is in Boston. Many of the local alumni take an active part in the fraternity affairs. Ten members of the college faculty are members of the local chapter. The alumni have an active committee which supervised the construction and furnishing of the new chapter house.

The fraternity sponsors three or four formal dances during school year including a pledge dance in the fall. Several dances are held at the chapter house throughout the year and a banquet is given once a year for the newly initiated members.

Alpha Kappa Pi endeavors to give the college student of average means an opportunity for the social, cultural, and athletic benefits that can be secured only through fraternity membership.

Alpha Tau Omega

ALPHA TAU OMEGA was founded at the Virginia Military Institute in 1865 by Otis Allen Glazebrook, Alfred Marshall and Erskine Mayo Ross, three young Confederate soldiers who had returned to the Institute to complete their education interrupted by the Civil War. The purpose of the fraternity was to reunite the North and South by the ties of brotherhood.

From the time of its founding, the fraternity has grown steadily and today numbers ninety-seven active chapters. The Gamma Beta Chapter here at Tufts was founded in 1893 by George McGuire and Perley Wilson of the Beta Upsilon Chapter founded two years earlier at the University of Maine. During the first years of its history, Gamma Beta held its meetings in a second floor room in Medford Square. Later the chapter moved its meeting place to the present chapter house on Professors Row. In 1936 the house was completely remodeled and redecorated through the generosity of the chapter's alumni.

This year Alpha Tau Omega feels it has been especially honored by the visits of several of its members who have distinguished themselves both in fraternity and outside circles. It had this fall the honor of receiving its Worthy Grand Chief Willard M. Benton of Kansas City, who made an inspection of the house, spoke to the brothers and proved to be a very interesting person. It also was proud to entertain Rear Admiral Leo Colbert, head of the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey, an A. T. O. and graduate of Tufts. Admiral Colbert returned here to be initiated into Tau Beta Pi, national engineering honorary society.

The resignations of A. T. O.'s Dean Frank Wren of the Liberal Arts School and Professor Newell Maynard were noted by the brothers with much regret. Both for a number of years have been familiar figures about the campus. Dean Wren's bearing, his dignified yet friendly manner will be long remembered by Tufts men. Professor Maynard's public speaking class was one of the most popular courses on Hill and he one of the most popular of instructors.

Gama Beta is proud of its past and with a fine class of freshmen is looking confidently forward to the future.

Delta Tau Delta

BETA MU chapter of Delta Tau Delta was founded in 1889 by Messrs. Felt, Fiske, Thompson, White, Pottle, Rose, and Moore. A year later, the chapter was incorporated, its members then numbering twelve. At that time the chapter was located at Medford Hillside. Somewhat later, and on through the World War, the chapter occupied the building now known as Graves House. From there, Beta Mu moved to its present location at 98 Professors' Row. The house there, an old wooden one, was replaced in the summer of 1936 with a new brick structure conforming with the Georgian style of architecture now standard for all new college buildings.

On Home-Coming Day, November 5, the chapter sponsored an Alumni Smoker. Entertainment was provided by Chief Reeves of the Swampscott Police Department, world's champion all-round pistol shot, who set up his own range in the house and gave an exhibition. As usual, there was a large number of Alumni present.

On November 25, the active members held a formal dance at the Shelter in honor of the new pledges. The dance was featured by fine music, distinctive favors, and unique programs.

On December 19, six upperclassmen pledges were initiated as members of the Fraternity at an informal initiation held in the Chapter House.

Shortly after the mid-year examination period, a very successful Parent's Tea was held at the Shelter. The parents of most of our pledges and actives were present and expressed their interest in the house and their appreciation of what the Fraternity has done for their sons.

A formal initiation and banquet was held in the Shelter on Sunday, February 26, at which ten of the Freshmen pledges were made members of the Fraternity. A turkey dinner heightened the joy of the pledges in the termination of their period of training.

The new treasurer, Cliff Miller, assumed the duties of his office on February 1, succeeding Larry Butler. Chet Kruszyna was elected to fill the position of assistant treasurer, vacated by Brother Miller.

The Spring of 1939 marked the fiftieth anniversary of Beta Mu Chapter. The occasion was fittingly celebrated at the Formal Initiation and Banquet, and again at the Spring Formal, held outside the Shelter to provide room for the numerous Alumni who wished to attend.

Delta Upsilon

THE Fraternity was founded in 1834 and has multiplied until now there are 61 chapters in the United States and Canada. The Tufts Chapter was established in 1886 as the "Mathematician Society," which included Tufts' own Doctor Durkee among the charter members. On January 8, 1938 the chapter moved from 13 Sawyer Avenue to the familiar Georgian brick structure on the Row, the site of the old Knight House.

In rushing Delta Upsilon maintained her customary standard, pledging a total of nineteen men who were initiated the third week in February. Delta Upsilon numbers among her members: Captain of Football, Editor of the Weekly, President of the Interfraternity Council, Secretary of the Student Council, President of the Pre-Med Club as well as members of cross-country, track, fencing, football, soccer, and basketball teams.

Delta Upsilon was only two points below the winner of the Interfraternity Competition last year and with the present active membership and excellent showing is expected when the final results are made apparent.

Socially the House has been most successful: attending the Interfraternity Ball almost en masse, rushing THE girl at the several formals, trading tall stories with the professors informally at the fraternity house after meals, and above all, frolicking at all those old clothes vic parties. The two affairs which the Freshmen will always remember were the Pledge Formal and the Initiation Banquet; their last appearance as pledges and their first as brothers.

This year the Tufts Chapter of Delta Upsilon acted as host to all the other Delta Upsilon chapters in New England on February 10 and 11. At this meeting papers were submitted by the delegates concerning the chapter activities throughout the country. This gathering gave the other Delta Upsilon's a chance to see Tufts and enabled our members to further broaden their sphere of acquaintance, as well as compare methods of administration and questions of chapter policy. All things considered it really was a fine year.

Phi Epsilon Pi

OMICRON Chapter of Phi Epsilon Pi was established at Tufts in 1916 by Dr. Benjamin Golden, Jesse Aaronson, Dr. Max Tennis, Hyman Weiner, Edward Cohen, William Spunt, and Manual Waters. It was formerly known as the Phi Delta Phi Fraternity.

The first house was situated on College Avenue in Somerville, but in 1921, Omicron moved to its present home on University Avenue, Medford. At present, plans are being formulated for a new house to be obtained in the very near future. This new house movement started in 1929 but was necessarily postponed because of the period of financial chaos that immediately followed. The agitation was revived in 1937 and has progressed by leaps and bounds until now the new house is practically an actuality.

Among the past accomplishments of our chapter has been the winning of the scholarship award for four consecutive years in the early thirties.

Of recent years, Omicron has really come into its own. The house is larger and stronger than it has ever been before. Last year, the chapter annexed the President's Loyalty Award for scholarship again and is making a determined attempt to keep possession of it for another year.

The house is rapidly improving its standing in athletics. In 1938, it won the squash trophy in interfraternity competition, placed second in baseball, and scored in basketball.

This year, Phi Epsilon Pi started its social season with an Alumni Banquet held at the Hotel Brunswick on January 11th. There, founders, alumni, fratres, and pledges consecrated themselves to a bigger and better Phi Epsilon Pi.

At the time of this writing, plans are being formulated for the mid-winter formal to be held at the Parker House on February 24th.

Therefore, as the day of graduation draws ever nearer, the seniors look back on four happy years of college; the juniors look forward to their last year on the "hill"; the sophomores take stock of themselves at the half-way mark; and the freshmen lose their greenness; but all Phi Eps look happily at their fraternity's ascendancy to her place in the sun, each one proud of his contribution to her success.

Phi Mu Delta

THE Phi Mu Delta Fraternity was established by the National Federation of Commons Clubs, itself founded back in the days when clubs formed by the young men of the day were becoming more and more popular. There now exist sixteen active chapters at prominent colleges in all parts of the country.

The local chapter was founded at Tufts in October, 1934, with the nationalizing of the Sigma Tau Alpha Fraternity, an active local fraternity, founded in 1905. These five short years since the charter was first granted have seen the chapter grow—both in membership and activities.

First as Sigma Tau Alpha, and then as Phi Mu Delta, the chapter house was for many years situated on College Avenue. Thus, the fraternity's association with campus affairs was very loosely connected, and the need for a house "on hill" became more strongly felt as the years passed. It was not, however, until February, 1938, that their dreams were realized and negotiations were completed for a chapter house on the campus.

This, the second year since the acquisition of the new quarters "on hill" has meant much to the members because they have been able to accomplish much more than before. The year has been marked by innumerable social gatherings at the chapter house. One of the most successful of these was the annual Halloween Party enjoyed by over thirty couples, and made doubly interesting by the decorations, favors, and refreshments which add so much to the success of every party.

The "Vic-party-a-week" policy, as in past years, was followed this year, with special "mammoth" gatherings during the football season.

Initiations into membership were held several times during the year, and annual Pledge Formal at the Bear Hill Country Club in Wakefield was held in December, with a large number in attendance.

A great deal of interest was shown in the Interfraternity Competition. Every member turned out for at least one sport, and the fraternity experienced a season even better than in seasons past.

Sigma Omega Psi

MU CHAPTER of Sigma Omega Psi Fraternity was established at Tufts College in 1921 by a group of undergraduates who wished to join together in an effort to make permanent those ties of friendship which first evidenced themselves in the years immediately following the Great Conflagration. These men were Morris Danovitch, Samuel Freeman, Philip Hamburg, Harold Horvitz, Harry Perlmutter, Abraham Ponack, Harry Rodman, Nathan Schatz, Nathan Sheer, Myer Temkin, Myer Stone, and Hymen White. The first meetings were held in quarters located on Broadway near Powder House Square, and it was not long before the Chapter was forced to seek larger accommodations on Packard Avenue. From this site the Sigma Omega Psi men removed to their present location on College Avenue, which is by no means their permanent home.

At present Mu's attention is focused on a site to satisfy the demands of its rapidly increasing membership. The past few years have been marked by a revival of Alumni interest in securing for the fraters a permanent residence "on the row". To such a degree have the efforts of the Alumni been successful that Mu's dream is rapidly taking the form of an actuality.

Mu Chapter has been active not only at Tufts but also within the New England District Council and Grand Conclave of Sigma Omega Psi Fraternity. The recent issue of the Mu Leader, the Chapter tri-annual newspaper, was awarded honorable mention by this body. For the past three years Mu has been the winner of the N. E. D. C. Basketball Tournament, and previous to that was victorious in seven out of ten similar events. The Chapter has further been honored by having one of its charter members selected as Grand-Scribe Comptroller of the entire fraternal organization. On many various occasions Mu has received honorable mention and citations for its fine work in the council.

During the first semester the Chapter sponsored its most successful house-parties; these events were varied according to the season: Halloween, Thanksgiving, and New Year's Eve. Besides these the Pledge Formal and Poverty Party were tremendous triumphs. The second semester commenced with the initiation of the largest pledged group in the fraternity's history. The subsequent activities included banquets for the new fraters and newly elected officers, a farewell banquet for the senior fraters during May, and a spring formal dance for the fraters.

Theta Delta Chi

THETA DELTA CHI was founded at Union College, Schenectady, New York in 1847 by six outstanding men, four of whom attained the rank of Phi Beta Kappa. Two of the founders, Abel Beach and Andrew Green, were so fortunate as to be able to be present at the fiftieth anniversary of the fraternity which they had played a leading part in founding.

Since its inception Theta Delta Chi has risen steadily to a position of pre-eminence among American national fraternities. This fraternity pioneered in the formation of its Grand Lodge, a form of national governing body since adopted by the majority of college secret Greek-letter societies. Again it was Theta Delta Chi who initiated the now characteristic fraternity flag and pledge pin.

At the present time the presidents of seven well-known colleges are proud to call themselves Theta Delts.

Kappa Charge of Theta Delta Chi was founded at Tufts in 1856, and is the second oldest fraternity on the hill. At the present time it holds the distinction of being the oldest active charge of Theta Delta Chi with a continuous existence.

The crowning event of the fall season for Theta Delta Chi was the impressive and colorful innauguration of Dr. Leonard Carmichael, K'21, as President of Tufts College. He is the third of Tufts' seven presidents who have come from the ranks of Theta Delta Chi, and from our own charge house on Packard Avenue as well. It is significant to note, at the same time, that Guy C. Pierce, K'96, The President of the Grand Lodge of Theta Delta Chi, has been recently elected to the Board of Trustees of Tufts College, a body which boasts of seven members of Theta Delta Chi.

In the current year the men of Kappa have again distinguished themselves by securing a splendid pledge delegation of the class of 1942, over twenty in number. That these freshmen are outstanding is apparent when we view their athletic accomplishments, twelve having won their numerals in fall sports.

Our extra-curricular activities leave little to be desired. With men active on the Jumbo Book Staff, the Tufts Weekly, Three P's, and musical organizations, and with two captains of major sports leading a host of letter men, the future of Kappa Charge of Theta Delta Chi seems bright indeed.

Zeta Psi

THE aim of Zeta Psi has been and is to develop the member as a social being, through intimate relations with a limited number of congenial friends who are bound together in an organization where loyalty, truth, honor, and fraternal affection are the guiding principals. To this end literary activity is encouraged as a means, never as an end in itself; to this end likewise all the varied activities of college and fraternity life are supported. The Fraternity never loses sight of the fact that the man is more important than the musician, the athlete, or the scholar.

Boasting of a continuous existence of eighty-five years, broken only when the outbreak of the Civil War brought such a response from the active chapter that the house was forced to close, Zeta Psi, rich in her own lore, has down through the years played a major part in originating and supporting those ivy-covered traditions and institutions which represent Tufts to those of us who love her.

Stronger than ever with a well represented freshman delegation, a recently rebuilt and newly furnished house, and a firm capital structure so ably administered by such elders as Brothers David T. Montague, Walter H. Belcher, Arthur B. Newhall, John F. Peterson, John A. Maddocks, Walter A. Weisleder, Evander French, Oscar E. Merrow, George E. Pearson, etc., Zeta Psi faces the future and its approaching centennial with the knowledge that it has in the past striven to act in the capacity of guardian of the best in Tufts tradition and the best in the idealism of manhood and that if it can perform this function in the future it will have the opportunity of being of real service to the college community.

Tufts' Zeta Psi men are all looking forward to the annual national convention which this year will be held at the Poland Springs Hotel in Maine. To this meeting the various chapters that stretch across the country and up into Canada will send delegates. Into the hands of these representatives from the country's leading colleges will be given an important charge—that of preserving all that is best in the noble tradition of Zeta Psi and at the same time to remain en rapport with the college authorities.

Alpha Omicron Pi

THE first important event of the Alpha Omicron Pi year was our tea given in honor of Mrs. Russell Carpenter, our new patroness, at the home of Mrs. Mergendahl.

We made over forty dollars on our Fashion Show and tea, presented at the Jackson Gymnasium in November. It was so successful and so well-attended that we held another one during the spring.

Founders' Day, celebrated on December 5, with the Boston Alumnae group, was an inspiring event. After a sumptuous feast of lobster thermidor, we listened to accounts of visits to Japan by Ruth Coolidge and Isabel Healey; one showed pictures and the other had collected Japanese clothing and other articles which she displayed. The climax of the evening was the initiation of Barbara Nickerson and Sally O'Donnell by the group of sixty-five Alpha Omicron Pi's.

The first event of rushing week was a tea held at Mrs. Mergendahl's home. Coffee and cup-cakes were served, and everyone was just beginning to have a gay good time when we had to leave.

Our big party was the last night of the rushing period. The cars with Alpha Omicron Pi stickers on the back windows carried the Pi's and rushees to Hawthorne's House of Seven Gables in Salem. Under the trundle bed, behind an old painting, in a snuff box of k800, in the secret staircase and in secret slide panels we searched in a treasure hunt. The prize, hidden in an old chest in the attic, was finally discovered by Madeline Nassi. After songs and refreshments we had a few more minutes to explore Hepzibah's Penny store and other historical-literary treasures before it was time to leave. For favors we gave old-fashioned nosegays of roses and sweet peas, and evening bags of scarlet velvet.

The pledging of the eight new Pi's took place on February 18th in our sorority rooms, and was followed by a steak banquet at the Cock Horse in Cambridge.

Spring activities consisted of the annual spring formal, our second fashion show, and a farewell party for the many seniors, all of whom will be missed greatly next fall.

Alpha Xi Delta

LAMBDA CHAPTER of Alpha Xi Delta, the first national sorority on the Campus, enthusiastically entered its thirty-second season at Tufts with the warm incentive of new sorority rooms. The fun of decorating the Chapter room and of enjoying informal suppers, breakfasts, and teas there have served to make firmer bonds in our sorority life. Captained by Virginia Davis, the tennis team started off our athletic season by securing the tennis plaque for the third consecutive year. November presented Fall initiation and banquet, and the swing into our social world with a dinner dance at the Blue Room of the Hotel Westminster.

During the pre-Christmas festivities, the Alpha Xi's established a precedent by offering to the college community an evening of Christmas carolling on the Campus, with refreshments at the Jackson gym. Our new patrons, Dean and Mrs. Burden, were host to the sorority for our annual Christmas party at which Santa Claus distributed gifts and jolly good fun. After mid-years came the long awaited rushing season with each and every Alpha Xi sincerely devoted to making this a successful year. The rushees were invited to accompany Alice in Wonderland to the Garden of Alpha Xi, at the Fischer School in Somerville. During the half hour period the following afternoon, the freshmen enjoyed pop corn and cocoa around the fireplace at our room. Our success was reflected in our joyful spirit at the pledge banquet at the Nanking in Medford. Our pledges' first undertaking was to entertain the alumnae with refreshments and an original skit at a tea in Packard Hall early in March.

And happy hearts . . . the Founders Day banquet on April seventeenth, with initiation of our new pledges . . . our annual country club formal . . . reunion of mothers and daughters at the Mother's Day tea . . . the farewell picnic for the seniors . . . anticipation of our National Convention at Ashville, North Carolina. And so, tho' ready to close the book of this year's activities, sisters in Alpha Xi await another year of good times and friendships made possible through our golden quill.

Sigma Kappa

THE Sigma Kappas began a very busy year by winning the Scholarship Cup presented by Chi Omega to the sorority having the highest scholastic average for the preceding year.

On November 14th, Omicron joined with Delta chapter and the Boston Alumnae Chapter in a celebration of Founders' Day, with a banquet and program at the Hotel Victoria in Boston. Outstanding events on the program were the presentation of a skit, "The Founding of Sigma Kappa", by the Omicron girls, musical contributions by Delta, several speeches by prominent alumnae of Sigma Kappa, and the presentation of the scholarship awards.

During the fall the Sigmas were busy raising money for their philanthropy, the Maine Seacoast Mission. We held a food sale at the home of Mrs. Maclachlan, which was so well supported that we were entirely sold out and attained our pledge from this single event. Placques of the chapel were also sold to raise funds for the continuance of this philanthropic work. We held our fall dinner dance on December 3rd at Seiler's Ten Acres, and opinions were unanimous that it was the most successful and enjoyable dance we have ever had. The Fall Formal was also a fitting social welcome to our new initiates, Marion Gilde, Betty Cheney, and Bettina Stevens, whose initiation on November 21 was followed by a banquet in the English Hunt Room of Howard Johnson's.

Soon after Christmas vacation the Sigma were enthusiastically working on plans for their rush party, which was held on February 15. Highlights of the evening were the introduction of a new song, "Red Mood", by the Bonner-Blodgett combination, and the presentation of a musical comedy entitled "The Founding of Tufts College", in which were included many new songs about the college, with original lyrics and music by several members of the sorority. Pledging of eight new Sigma Kappas took place on February 18th, and was followed by a supper at Johnson's. On March 3rd the pledges gave a tea in the sorority rooms for the pledges of the other sororities, and the next evening we joined with the other sororities for the occasion of the Pledge Formal.

Chi Omega

CHI OMEGA finished last year's activities and started the summer with a four day house party on Lake Cocknewagon in Monmouth, Maine. Our hostess was Mrs. Oren C. Boothby, an active alumna. Immediately afterward, Eileen Foster, Rachel Cole, and Ruth Payne attended the National Chi Omega Convention at Lake George, New York. At this Convention, Chi Alpha was awarded the Loving Cup, which is given each year to the most outstanding chapter of Chi Omega.

Through the efforts of our alumnae, the chapter rooms, which were destroyed by fire last winter, were refurnished. Their reopening was celebrated by a tea in honor of Sigma Kappa, winner of the Chi Omega scholarship cup.

Teas had an important place in Chi Omega's fall activities, for beside the two Pan Hellenic affairs a Patroness tea was given in honor of Mrs. Lewis, who had retired after many years as a chapter advisor. Mrs. Kenneth Myrick accepted our invitation to fill the position vacated by Mrs. Lewis.

Miss Helen Gordon, a national chapter visitor, spent a week-end here and gave Chi Omegas some helpful ideas for carrying on chapter work. Influenced by her suggestion and by the need of funds, Chi Omega obtained permission to sponser the Ball Square Theatre for a week. Fall activities were rounded off with a dinner-dance at the Fox and Hounds Club.

Winter brought the Christmas party, which was held this year at the home of Professor and Mrs. Lloyd Shaulis. A dinner at 96 Packard St. preceded the party. Hardly was vacation over when a successful rushing season began. Soon afterward our new pledges gave a tea for the pledges of the other sororities.

Spring activities included the philanthropic work, which goes on all year at the Peabody House in Boston, and our Founders' Day Banquet in April. Members from other New England chapters attended the banquet this year, and round tables were held while they were here. Spring Formal and a Mothers' Day Tea concluded the year's activities.

The Underclasses

DIVERSIONS AT TUFTS

SINCE different classes in the college have limited functions as units, individual members rely upon themselves as well as a few friends to create those situations or acquaint themselves with those people that in later life will serve to recollect memories of bright college years. At Tufts, attendance in chapel once a week is the only time the class meets as a whole, with the exception of the annual class banquet. Otherwise the class officers or the honorary societies represent their respective groups and effect its duties. However, students are not too slow to select their own favorite spots where they visit either to look at, to talk, or to work. Here they imbibe knowledge that has never been bound in books nor will it ever be bound, for it is in these places that an interchange of thought and personality develops. Unseen threads of experience weave an invisible pattern of attitude upon passive and impassive minds. This is the more real and practical side of school.

Fifteen minute chapel once a week exposes each of us to timely talks by noted visitors or lectures by the faculty on special topics.

Though most students get enough of laboratory during regular sessions, others return to make-up work, do independent research.

Nurse's office in Cousens Gym is popular spot. Here fellows weigh themselves free of charge, get medical advice, or just chat.

BOOK VI

New commuters' room in Cousens Gym offers undergraduates another place to gab and eat lunches, study and hold meetings.

Bulletin boards on the side of Ballou Hall are perused daily by all students for any important information.

Dick, campus cop, and Smitty, all-around handy man, periodically exchange latest views on what's up around the Hill.

Den of Braker Frank in basement of Braker Hall is another popular hangout. Here, the Baron of Braker tells jokes, reveals secrets.
